WILSON HOLDS CONFERENCE WITH SENATORS

COLDEST WEATHER OF YEAR EXPECTED IN ATLANTA TODAY

Mercury Drops to 4 Degrees at Midnight Friday, While College Park Peports 1 Degree Above Zero.

DROP IN TEMPERATURE GENERAL IN GEORGIA

Great Damage Was Done by the Cold Wave to Crops in Southern Georgia and in Florida Friday.

The cold wave that hit Atlanta Thursday night and brought a sudden drop in temperature gained headway Friday when the mercury hovered around 10 degrees all day and dropped to 4 degrees above by midnight. Reports from neighboring cities indicate that it was even colder outside the city. At midnight it was 1 degree above zero at Decatur and College Park.

The sudden drop in temperature was general throughout Georgia and the south, according to dispatches from many sections. Great damage was done in south Georgia and Florida to early crops. In Atlanta the plumbers were kept busy all day long answering hurry calls to houses where they forgot to turn off the water. The garages of the city were working overtime thawing out frozen radiators, one prominent dealer reporting that he had to render "first aid" to forty automobiles during the day.

But listen:

Mercury Will Drop Lower.

Friday wasn't a cold day if the weather Saturday is to have is taken into consideration. For the weather man predicts that the mercury will drop still further.

That means ZERO weather for Atlanta today, and colder in the country.

The official weather bulletin issued Friday night states that the temperature will drop steadily today up to noon, when it will stand still until night, when the downward course will be resumed. A stiff wind will accompany the cold weather of today.

The cold of Friday was all the more noticable, due to a stiff wind that whipped around the corners, stabbing the cold home like a driven nail.

While the weather bureau has not made an official statement as to how long the cold weather will keep up, still it is stated unofficially that the mercury will probably rise Sunday and by Monday the weather will be warmer. February as a whole is slated as a cold month by the bureau.

Suffering Among Poor.

Suffering among the poorer people of the city was intense Friday, according to reports from the Associated Charities, the Salvation Army and City Warden Evans, who were besieged all day for help.

In the industrial department of the Salvation Army many more than the usual number of men have applied for lodging and shelter during the cold spell. The army's hall on Whitehall street is crowded to capacity and more are coming in. It is impossible for persons in this condition to stay out in the weather or to sleep in corners as they have been known to do.

In the Associated Charities, a few more than the ordinary number of appeals have been noted during the cold snap, but, according to Secretary Logan, the increase is not so great as might be thought.

"We have an organization which anticipates as well as it can and has a more or less steady list of applicants. The same persons, practically, are on the hands of the charities and these have been cared for. We, of course have had a few more calls than usual but the increase has been slight."

City Warden Evans was besieged all day Friday by people seeking aid of the city. He stated that he had appeals from more than 200 people during the day. During the past thirty days the demands made on his office heavy exceeded anything he has known in the past, he said. E. W. Alfriend paid a visit to the office Friday to tender his services in relieving the needy of the city. Warden Evans has been given the services of sixteen mounted policemen to aid him in investigating cases with greater dispatch.

Aside from frozen water pipes and automobile radiators considerable other damage was done by the freezing weather Friday. At Broad and Mitchell streets last night at 11:30 an iron trolley post snapped in two as a result of what little moisture on the post freezing. Patrolman guarded the wires until the trouble wagon on the Georgia Railway and Electric company came and repaired the damage.

Physicians report an unusually large number of cases all traceable to the cold weather. When the morning watch came on at police headquarters last night at midnight, 11 of the men were reported "sick."

PROSPECTS BETTER FOR CLOSING MAILS TO LIQUOR TRAFFIC

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 2.—(Special.) Prospects for prohibition legislation are very much more encouraging than they were a week ago, according to Thomas B. Felder, of Atlanta, who has been here for a week urging action upon pending measures.

In response to Mr. Felder's earnest appeal, the house committee on post-offices and postroads today agreed to hold a hearing next Wednesday morning on Senator Bankhead's bill to exclude liquor advertisements and solicitations from the mails.

Representative Moon, of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, voted for the hearing, as did Representative Thomas M. Bell, of Georgia. It is hoped that a favorable report can be gotten out of the committee in time for the house to act before adjournment.

Mr. Felder left tonight for New York, but will return to Washington on Monday.

JAPAN IS MAKING WARLIKE PROTEST TO UNITED STATES

Against Anti-Alien Land Measures That Are Pending Before the Legislatures of Oregon and Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, February 2.—Anti-alien leaders in the Idaho senate decided today the anti-alien land ownership bill, passed by the house would be killed in order not to embarrass the United States government during the present international crisis.

Japan objected to the proposed bill, which is similar to California's anti-alien land ownership law.

The state department at Washington, it became known today, has sent telegrams to members of the legislature and to Governor Alexander, protesting against the passage of the bill. Senator Borah, who is in Washington, has sent telegrams to the legislators and to Governor Alexander asking them not to embarrass the government at this time.

The Idaho Daily Statesman, quoting a telegram from Senator Borah, printed with his authorization, says:

"Secretary Lansing and Mr. Polk paid a second call Thursday night at Senator Borah's residence and represented that Tokio fears the enactment of such legislation at this time may so incense the Japanese people as to force the government, in self-preservation, to signify a willingness to register by force of arms its protest against the Idaho bill."

Salem, Ore., February 2.—Oregon's anti-alien land bill was withdrawn from the legislature here today by Senator George R. Wilbur, democrat, who introduced it because, as he said, he did not want to handicap President Wilson with possible Japanese complications during the present international crisis.

STRONG PROTEST MADE BY JAPAN.

Washington, February 2.—Japan's representations to the United States against the anti-alien land bills pending in the Idaho and Oregon legislatures are considered no less serious at this critical juncture of international affairs than her protests against the California laws four years ago.

The state of feeling in Japan has been represented to the state department as being so serious that the Japanese statesmen who wish to preserve friendly relations with the United States fear the passage of more legislation in this country directed against their country may force the situation at home beyond their control.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED AND A NUMBER INJURED

When Burlington Train Strikes Broken Rail—Five Pullmans Leave Track.

Omaha, Neb., February 2.—Five persons are known to have been killed and a number injured when Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train No. 12 was wrecked near Cromwell Station, Iowa, at 10 o'clock tonight. The train struck a broken rail and five Pullman cars were thrown down a 40-foot embankment into the ditch. The engine, the tender and the observation car left the track, but were not ditched. The injured are being taken to Creston.

Negro Bishop Walter Dead.

New York, February 2.—The Rev. Alexander Walter, a bishop of the negro M. E. church, died at his home here tonight at the age of 58 years. He has been bishop of the New York and New England dioceses for 25 years and was known as an active worker for the betterment of conditions among members of his race. He was born at Bardstown, Ky.

GREAT ATTENDANCE IS EXPECTED TODAY AT THE LAND SHOW

Today Is "School Day," and Atlanta Children Will Be Guests of Honor All Day Long.

SPECIAL PROGRAM WILL BE OFFERED CHILDREN

Attractive Motion Pictures and Fine Vaudeville Acts Will Be Staged During the Day.

LAND SHOW PROGRAM.

10:30 a. m., doors open. Motion pictures—Baby Fischer; Petite Hazelle.
11 a. m.—Band concert.
12 m.—Special Childrens' Luncheon (25 cents) in dining room.
1 p. m.—Motion pictures.
2:30 p. m.—Petite Hazelle; Baby Fischer.
3 p. m.—Special Amusements for Children in Bohemia.
4 p. m.—Band Concert.
6-8 p. m.—Motion Pictures.

This is to be Children's day at the Southeastern Land show, and in preparing for it the management has left no detail unattended to make of it a day that no child visitor will soon forget.

Everything going on inside the big Auditorium and in Taft hall, where the exhibits are; in Bohemia and outside where the merry-go-round is set up and awaiting warmth, is to be conducted today with no thought other than the entertainment and education of the children who visit the show.

In preparation for the event the management several days ago enlisted the support and gained the hearty cooperation of the local school department, from the board of education and Superintendent L. M. Landrum down through the teaching corps, and every teacher in every grade school in the city—and in Fulton and neighboring counties, for that matter—have personally advised her pupils to attend the Land show today. And many of these teachers will acompany their young charges, thus enhancing the instruction value of the visit.

Tickets Are Supplied.

Through Superintendent Landrum many schools in Atlanta were supplied with a quota of children's admission coupons, in the aggregate about 20,000 of them.

Arrangements had been made for the distribution of 30,000 such coupons, but due largely to the sudden change in the weather all were not distributed, so some of the schools were, inadvertently upon the part of the land show management, omitted, and there are approximately 10,000 coupons still in the hands of the committee.

Any child holding a coupon will, upon presenting it with ten cents at the box office near the entrance to the land show at any time after 10 o'clock this forenoon, be given an admission ticket to everything in the show and, since all have not had an opportunity to procure coupons, the management decided yesterday afternoon to admit any child, with or without a coupon, for ten cents.

The original plan was a duplicate of that followed by the Southeastern Fair management on Children's day at the fair last October.

Because of the fact that some difficulty was had in reaching all schools, it has been announced that during the time stated any school child, whether attending public or private schools, will be admitted for 10 cents. Due to the same situation, it has been decided that the coupon is not necessary as a means of admittance.

Reports last night were such as to indicate that the building will be jammed with young Georgians all during the day today, and especially will this be the case if there is a moderation in the weather.

During most of the day motion pictures will be shown continuously. The films are of the choicest that could be procured, and carefully selected for the purpose of affording the young folk the greatest possible amount of amusement and instruction—the program being about equally divided between the two classes of pictures indicated. One of the comedy pictures, never shown outside of New York, is said to be the most humorous, from the child's point of conception, ever projected upon any screen. Others, of the educational sort, will include "Farming With Dynamite," which was run also Monday night and yesterday; a reel showing

WILL ASK COUNTY TO PAVE PEACHTREE

Action Taken by the Street Committee Following the Mayor's Advice—Power Company Authorized to Use Granite Cubes.

A resolution by Councilman Mincey, of the sixth ward, that the county commission be requested at its next meeting to make provision for meeting the city's share of the expense of repaving Peachtree street from Five Points out, was passed by the street committee of council Friday afternoon. It will go before council Monday and when passed the paper will be presented at the next meeting of the commission. This action followed the advice of Mayor Candler.

The street committee also voted to allow the Georgia Railway and Power company to repave that portion of the street between its tracks with granite cubes for as far out from Five Points as they found it to be necessary.

The action of the committee followed several talks made to that body by people interested in getting the street repaved. It was the united opinion of all those present that something should be done by the city.

Preston Arkwright Appears.

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, appeared before the committee. He told that body that the tracks of the company would have to be relaid at once to insure the safety of the cars operating over the lines every day.

"It makes no difference whether the city asks us to relay these rails or whether it does not, the company is going to do it regardless of their attitude on the matter," he said. "It is necessary and must be done. At the same time we are more than ready to repave that portion of the street between our tracks with any sort of pavement wanted by the city. If council desires asphalt or granite cubes or wood block it is simply our wish that they name the kind of pavement. We will have it laid between our tracks and for two feet on the outside of each track under the direction and specifications of the city engineers.

"I personally feel that the city should make arrangements for a new pavement along this street at the same time that we are relaying our rails. However, that is a matter for the city to decide and is not for me to say. It is my belief that the best pavement that the city can lay will be granite cubes. This will be smooth and permanent. The company is ready to begin this work as soon as the city desires and will lay eighteen feet."

Granite Cubes Urged.

John E. Murphy, who has been interested in the circulation of a petition among property owners along Peachtree for a new pavement of granite cubes, also appeared before the committee. "I think that granite cubes would make the best pavement the city could lay," he said. "But if this committee sees fit to make repairs to the present pavement, or votes for another kind of material, I have nothing to say. It is my great desire to see the street repaved with some sort of smooth pavement. At the same time I feel the county should pave a larger portion of Atlanta's streets and Peachtree and Whitehall ought to have their special attention.

"I have here two petitions signed by property owners. One is for owners from Five Points to Ellis street and the other is for those beyond Ellis to Forrest avenue. Neither have the required fifty-one per cent of names and both call for a pavement of granite cubes. It is the intention of those interested to have these petitions signed up with the required per cent of abutting owners before the next meeting of the committee."

Tenants Oppose Cubes.

Some controversy has arisen between the property owners along the street and tenants as to the best pavement. A petition signed by more than one hundred tenants from Five Points to Pine street, was presented to the committee by Mrs. C. H. Smith protesting against the use of granite cubes for paving on Peachtree street.

The paper set forth that the signers protested on the ground that such a pavement would not be smooth and that it would be very dusty in dry weather, thus tending to ruin their stocks of goods. The protest was not against a new pavement. It was signed by some of the most prominent merchants along Peachtree, and managers of most of the large hotels.

FREE PASSES BARRED BY TENNESSEE SOLONS

Nashville, Tenn., February 2.—The house of representatives this afternoon passed the bill prohibiting the issuance of free passes by railroads, after numerous amendments had been added, exempting certain classes from its provisions. This bill was passed by the senate last week in a much more stringent form.

NAME OF NEW DECATUR CHANGED TO ALBANY

Washington, February 2.—Postmaster General Burleson issued orders today changing the name of the postoffice at New Decatur, Ala., to Albany, effective July 1.

AMERICAN HONOR HAS BEEN ASSAILED, BELIEF OF COUNTRY

That Is the Practically Unanimous Opinion on the Crisis Caused by German U-Boat Declaration.

MUCH NEUTRAL SHIPPING STOPPED BY THE ORDER

Germany Expected This, But Stoppage Will Be Only Temporary—Co-Operation by Neutrals Against Germany Distinct Possibility.

Washington, February 2.—All administration officials are gratified and surprised at what they interpret as a practically unanimous opinion of the country on the situation so unexpectedly precipitated by Germany's submarine warfare declaration. Not only nearly all of the large metropolitan newspapers reaching the state department, but also the small country papers are declared to accept as a basic principle the belief that America's interests and honor have been attacked.

One official said today that this viewpoint, which had been awaited before any definite announcement, has had a great effect on the formation of a decision. The administration is known to feel that while the German announcement justifies any action that may be deemed best, the administration could not outdo public opinion.

European sailings of all ships flying the American flag should be postponed, according to the opinion of the state department, to await the decision of the country in the broader issue of the controversy with Germany.

Americans in Germany.

The state department feels that the sailing of vessels, the departure of Americans from Germany and the safe passage of other Americans across the Atlantic should for the moment be left entirely to the discretion of the individuals concerned on their personal judgment of the situation. Wherever possible, however, it is earnestly desired that no risks be taken until the formal decision of the country on the whole issue has been announced.

Germany is understood by officials here to be in the dark as to America's probable position. Not till the American course has been formally announced at home, it is understood, will Germany receive her answer. Many cablegrams have been exchanged between the state department and Ambassador Gerard since the German pronouncement, it is stated, but none of the information has gone further. Especially is the ambassador being fully informed as to the state of public opinion in this country.

American diplomats abroad are under standing instructions, it developed today, to warn Americans at any time that it may be necessary for them to leave a belligerent country. On that ground, it is understood, the state department will not issue a formal notice through Ambassador Gerard for Americans to leave Germany before the situation has become utterly hopeless. Until then the ambassador is expected to keep them fully enough informed of developments and perhaps to add his personal opinion to guide them to a wise decision. There are estimated now to be about 3,000 American citizens in Germany, of whom about three-quarters are former Germans.

A similar situation prevails with Americans in France and other entente and neutral European countries. The situation will be kept as fully before them as possible in order that they may base their judgment on the facts. Then, when a final decision is made by this country as to the greater issues, formal advice or suggestions may be issued.

Much Neutral Shipping Stopped.

The German declaration is thought to have had the immediate effect expected in the temporary stopping of much neutral shipping. The United States is advising against American vessels leaving its ports; Holland has provisionally prohibited her merchantmen from going out; Norway has, for the time, forbidden her vessels to sail, and Denmark has suggested to shipowners that they first ask official advice. Thus for the time being ships of those nations will hold to harbor.

These postponements of sailings, however, are admitted only temporary pending action on the main issue involved. When the various nations have decided whether they will accept or

Crash Matter of Time And Question of Form Washington Declares

Members of the Cabinet and Senators Are Agreed That Under No Circumstances Can United States Tolerate Such an Invasion of Rights as Germany's Campaign of Ruthlessness Proposes.

NO MORE NOTES FROM UNITED STATES GOING TO THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Sentiment of Large Majority of Senators Against Further Note Writing and in Favor of Immediate Action—Question Is Whether to Wait Until Germany Commits an Overt Act or Whether Von Bernstorff Should Be Given Passports at Once—Definite Action Coming in Few Hours.

Washington, February 2.—The submarine menace sweeps on and every hour draws the United States nearer a break with Germany.

No restraining developments appear to stem the tide. Official Washington is convinced the crash is only a matter of time and a question of forms.

A long session of the cabinet and a dramatic night meeting of the president and senators at the capitol developed a unanimity of opinion that a challenge to the honor of the United States must be met.

The means of doing so appear to be the only question undetermined.

When President Wilson and his advisers parted, "for a night's reflection," as the president himself put it, apparently it had not been determined whether the United States should delay action until Germany commits an overt act, or whether passports should be handed to Count von Bernstorff with or without a warning note to Berlin.

"SOMETHING VERY, VERY SERIOUS."

After the president and the cabinet had been in session more than two hours, Mr. Wilson hurried to the capitol and this statement was issued at the white house:

"The president and the cabinet thoroughly canvassed the situation, but there is nothing to announce."

Members of the cabinet, sworn to silence, left the white house

W. & A. LEASE MAY BE SIGNED TODAY

State Road Commission and Representatives of Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Holding Daily Sessions.

It is regarded as probable that a lease contract between the state of Georgia and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, for the Western and Atlantic railroad at the expiration of the present lease, will be signed today.

There is the possibility that negotiations may be continued into next week, but Friday afternoon there was reason to believe that there would be no continuance.

There is no doubt of the fact that the commission is pleased with the progress that has been made toward an end of the negotiations, and, unless some untoward incident should develop in the meantime, there is the feeling about the state house that a lease advantageous to the state will be closed.

One thing is certain: The attiwith grave faces. One of them sufficiently broke the rule of silence to say:

"The near future will develop something very, very serious."

Another gave a hint of the probability that some overt act might be awaited, or at least a warning given, by saying:

"The last chance has not yet come. While Germany has announced her purpose, she has not yet carried it into effect, so far as we know."

The cabinet unanimously agreed, however, that the United States could under no circumstances contenance such an invasion of its right as Germany's campaign of ruthlessness proposes.

At the capitol the president had an hour's conference alone with Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and then sent out word that he sought the views of all senators. Many of the democrats hurried to his room on the senate floor. Seated there with senators grouped about him in a semi-circle, the president gave no indication of a decision of his own, but frankly announced he had come to hear their opinions.

THREE COURSES FOR UNITED STATES.

To induce open expressions, he was careful not to specify what he had in his own mind, but invited a discussion of three propositions:

To break off diplomatic relations with Germany at once and deliver Ambassador von Bernstorff's passport tomorrow.

To delay action until some overt act has been committed against the rights of the United States.

To re-define the position of the United States, as outlined all through the submarine controversy, with a final warning that an offense means a diplomatic break.

The sentiment of a large majority of the senators was against the latter course.

Senator Stone and Senator Lewis favored assuming that Germany did not intend to invade American rights, but were for meeting any such invasion with an immediate severance of relations. Other senators were so confident that Germany's new war zone proclamation meant invasion of American rights that they favored breaking off relations immediately.

WILSON'S MIND NOT YET MADE UP.

All understood that President Wilson had not made up his mind whether to proceed, as proposed by Senators Stone and Lewis, on the assumption that American rights would not be violated; or whether to consider Germany's announcement as ground in itself for summary action.

Without disclosing what decision, if any, he had reached, the president left the capitol suggesting to Senators that there should be a night's reflection and action by word or deed before Monday.

It was said that no joint session of congress tomorrow to enable the president to make an address was discussed.

During the day it had been clear that no communication had gone forward to Germany nor had Ambassador Gerard been given instructions to inform the government of the state of feeling in the United States. That, of course, has been done through the German embassy, which continues to express the firm conviction that there is little hope of avoiding a diplomatic break.

President Wilson's every action throughout the day was predicated on his belief that the United States faces the most serious crisis in its history. He chose the course of seeking the advice of other men to compare with his own opinions. The overwhelming sentiment from those he consulted was in favor of a break in relations. Only the time and method were questions of difference. But even after his long talk with the senators he returned to the white house to give further consideration to hte problem.

AMERICAN ACTION TO GUIDE NEUTRALS.

One of the thoughts in the minds of the president and his advisers is that the action of the United States should be so unassailable that it would guide other neutrals.

President Wilson was boldly told by most of the fifteen democratic senators in conference with him that the German declaration was an affront to the United States and the civilized world, and that any course than an immediate rupture of diplomatic relations would be "viewed by the world as cowardice."

Some, however, urged that Germany be notified of a definite time at which diplomatic relations would be severed and a few others urged that nothing be done until Germany, by some overt act, demonstrated her deliberate determination to affront the United States.

All the senators assured President Wilson that whatever course he took would be sustained by a unanimous senate. Senators who participated in the remarkable conference were Stone, Reed, Phelan, Myers, Overman, Ransdell, Hoke Smith, Beckham, Vardaman, Pittman, Fletcher, Pomerene, Walsh, Lewis, and Johnson, South Dakota.

That no republican senators attended the conference was due entirely to the fact that the president did not reach the capitol until the senate had recessed and it was with difficulty that pages and clerks reached those who did attend. The president sent for no one in particular.

While Senator Lodge, ranking republican member of the foreign relations committee, still was in the senate when the president first arrived, he did not know of the purpose of the conference and left the building.

WILSON JUST CAME TO SWAP VIEWS.

At the conclusion of the conference, the president, the last to leave, saw the newspaper correspondents and made a brief announcement:

"Gentlemen," he said, "I just came to swap views. I wanted light and came here to get it."

He was asked what would be done and replied:

"That depends on how I feel in the morning." Then he smiled and added: "Of course, that remark was only a joke." He added that there had been no suggestion of a joint session of congress and that he thought no public announcement would be made tonight.

From inquiry among the senators present, the following facts were established:

The president, frankly revealing the innermost details of the crisis, told the senators he had come to feel the pulse of the people; that he wished each man to speak his mind frankly with the welfare of the nation and civilization at heart.

At the conclusion each senator shook the president's hand and assured him that whatever course he took, whether in accord with their own views or not, he would be sustained by an unanimous senate.

"The president," said one senator, "left us with the suggestion of a night's reflection and of action by word or deed before Monday."

VON BERNSTORFF EXPECTS BREAK.

Washington, February 2.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has been authorized by his government to arrange for the passage of any American passenger ship, without contraband, through the lane of safety to Falmouth prescribed for one ship a week of the American line in Germany's new orders to her submarine commanders.

All vessels would be placed under the same restrictions as the ships of the American line, and the Berlin government is said to have pointed out that this arrangement should enable American ship owners to gain entire control of the trans-Atlantic passenger carrying trade.

The German embassy has not yet taken the matter up with any ship owners, but it is not improbable, should diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany continue, that steps along this line will be taken.

Neither receipt of this telegram nor other events today changed the German view here that there is little hope of avoiding a break of relations between the United States and Germany unless in some unexpected manner a peace conference is brought about.

At the same time the view of the German government as reflected here, is that unless the United States intends to go to war nothing is to be gained by severing diplomatic relations. The German government, according to embassy officials, never will itself break off relations with the United States. The German policy as outlined is that either a break or a declaration of war, if the situation develops either, will have to come from the United States.

The German ambassador himself today was quietly waiting for developments. He had no information and had no appointments with officials of the administration. Apparently he was prepared for anything that might happen. He spent the day in his study at the embassy, where he conferred at some length with Count Tarnowski, the new ambassador from Austria-Hungary, who plans to present his credentials immediately.

Swearingen Is Rejected.

Washington, February 2.—The senate tonight, in executive session, rejected the nomination of R. W. Swearingen as postmaster at Avon Park, Fla. Senator Bryan objected to confirmation.

EUROPE WAITING ON UNITED STATES

For Action of German Note. Meanwhile, Lot of Neutral Shipping Is Held in Port or Recalled.

London, February 2.—The whole of Europe is anxiously awaiting the United States action on Germany's note announcing her new submarine policy. Meanwhile a large proportion of neutral shipping is held in port or recalled.

Traffic between England and Holland and England and the Scandinavian countries, so far as it is carried on by neutral vessels, is being held up. These countries depend upon Great Britain for many things, particularly for coal to operate factories.

Liverpool ship owners today said the new declaration of submarine warfare will not affect trans-Atlantic traffic, but a number of Americans who contemplated returning home during the next few weeks have hastened their bookings. Tickets are being sold as usual for British and American liners. The Holland-America and Norwegian-Atlantic liners are the only ones whose voyages have been cancelled or postponed.

Thus far the results of the new policy have not been reflected in the losses of ships recorded by Lloyds, today's list being about the same average; so as for some weeks past.

The comment of the evening newspapers on the situation follows largely that of the morning journals. Most of them are concerned with what President Wilson will do.

The German note has resulted in a rush of Americans to procure passage to New York on the first available boat. Large numbers who expected to sail within a fortnight have decided to leave Saturday and before noon all the first-class accommodations on the steamer —— were booked.

Among those applying for passage are 120 persons who intended to sail on the Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam, which was to have left Falmouth on Tuesday. This vessel, however, has been recalled to Rotterdam, whence she sailed two days ago.

AMERICAN HONOR HAS BEEN ASSAILED

fight the German prohibitions, it is understood that new negotiations will be sent out by the various governments concerned. What Spain is doing is unknown here, though press reports show that Premier Romanones, while negotiating with the German ambassador as to the safety of Spanish vessels and the preservation of the Spanish export trade, has announced rather equivocally to the Cortes that the army and navy have been given instructions commensurate with the crisis.

Co-operation by some neutrals is forecast here as a distinct possibility. The whole neutral diplomatic corps has shown a degree of interest hardly surpassed during the war, as the double question is involved, not only of what the United States is going to do, but what action their own governments will take. Admittedly the action of part at least of the neutrals will be most decisively influenced by that of the United States and no attempt is made to conceal the eagerness with which the American decision is awaited.

All Neutrals Affected.

No other proposition of the war has so completely affected all neutrals alike, it is pointed out. The European neutrals are struck in their vitals; the South American neutrals, as shown by their first press comment, are hardly less affected through the cutting off of their foreign trade. Press comment from South America has indicated that part of the public opinion there favors identical action with that of the United States.

The Spanish ambassador, Mr. Riano, called at the state department today, largely for information and also, it is understood, with the thought that Spain might be asked to take over the affairs of the United States and of the countries which the United States represents in case of an actual break. He is known, however, not to have been approached on that subject as yet. Just what would happen to American interests in the belligerent countries in event of a break is not known, as none of the countries still neutral and likely to remain neutral is well equipped diplomatically to take over large interests.

The actual accomplishments of the German campaign are being watched with the deepest interest and now that a second day has passed officials are inclined to believe the campaign may be more spectacular than fatal. In this connection the statement of Rear Admiral Lacaze, French minister of marine, that only one-half of one per cent of all the shipping entering French ports in the last eleven months has been sunk, is regarded of timely interest.

Public opinion as reported from abroad is being keenly watched and gratification is expressed that the allied press is fully cognizant of the difficulties here and is showing a confident restraint.

ON GERMANY'S HEAD IF WAR IS OUTCOME

Former President Taft Says That the Kaiser Is Defying Plain Principles of Justice and Humanity.

Washington, February 2.—Former President Taft prefaced a prepared speech on the League to Enforce Peace here tonight with a reference to the new German crisis, declaring that if the United States were drawn into war Germany would force it by "her defiance of plain principles of justice and humanity which should obtain between civilized nations."

"The responsibility which now rests on the president and congress is very heavy," said Mr. Taft. "They should know and do know that the American people will back them to the end in their decision. May God give them good deliverance."

The former president was speaking before the chamber of commerce of the United States, answering particularly criticisms of Theodore Roosevelt, William J. Bryan, Senator Borah and others of the League to Enforce Peace idea.

Facts Must Be Faced.

"I had prepared this address," he said, "before Germany startled this country and all neutrals by her last note. The actual dangers with which it brings us face to face may seem to make what I have been discussing theoretical, tame and inappropriate. The truth is, however, that this great crisis only emphasizes the importance of the purpose and plan of the league in the future history of this country.

"Of all things, we would avoid war. We are not prepared for it. Its awful consequences we know for Europe's suffering. Our prayer is for some escape from it in this critical hour, if consistent with our national honor. But we must face the facts.

"In her campaign against her enemies, Germany proposed ruthlessly to wage war upon the property and lives of neutrals in flagrant violation of their rights. She began with Belgium. She now includes them all. Our national conscience is void of offense against her. Her cruel and indefensible drowning without warning of more than a hundred innocent Americans on the Lusitania we condoned in view of her pledge against a repetition. That pledge is now withdrawn and she avows her purpose to resume her shocking course.

"If war is to come between us, she will be the unprovoked aggressor. We would avoid being drawn into the European vortex by every honorable concession. If she forces us into it she will do so by her defiance of plain principles of justice and humanity which should obtain between civilized nations.

Germany's Manifest Weakness.

"In spite of her great strength and marvelous efficiency, Germany's manifest weakness has been in a failure to understand other peoples and to appreciate the moral forces working in them. She may not know the spirit of the good natured, tolerant warhating giant she now challenges. She may overestimate, as she has done before in the case of other nations, the influence of sordid motives, of the inertia of comfort and of dissentient elements among us, which she may expect to paralyze our action. She may stir an active patriotism in our people which she does not suspect. She may shock us into a real preparation for war and the sacrifice it involves as nothing else might.

"She may push us at once into a league to enforce a just peace. She may force us into an organization of our potential military strength on the one hand and into a moral leadership in the maintenance of international justice on the other. Thenceforth our isolation from the wars and welfare of the rest of the world would be at an end. When peace would come, the eyes of our people, in spite of warnings of statesmen who are looking forward would be opened not only to the wisdom, but to the necessity of our leading the nations into a permanent world's league to enforce peace."

NO PASSPORTS REVOKED BY THE UNITED STATES

OFFICIALS BARRED ON GERMAN SHIPS

U. S. Customs Officials Are Not Allowed to Go Below Decks on Vessels Interned at New York.

New York, February 2.—Upon the receipt of special instructions from Washington, Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port, conferred late today with representatives of the department of justice and the New York police. None of those who attended the conference would discuss what was considered beyond saying that questions relating to a "possible emergency" were talked over.

Mr. Malone has increased his force of dock guards and special inspectors until he now has more than 1,200 men under his command. Harbor police boats and four tugs of the coast guard cutter service, under command of the collector, are at their docks with steam up and their crews sleeping on board.

It was learned that the commanders of several of the German ships self-interned here have refused permission to the collector's officers to go below their main decks on trips of inspection. Mr. Malone declined to discuss the subject except to say that the ships' officers were within their rights unless he obtained evidence that neutrality regulations were being violated.

Acting on instructions from the attorney general's office the United States attorney and the New York branch of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, are making arrangements to meet what was described as "any emergency."

The arrangements, it was said, include the mobilization of all the secret service agents in the greater city in order that points of great strategical importance may be safeguarded.

Preparation is being made for every conceivable contingency and the municipal authorities are quietly co-operating.

Army officers commanding the forts that guard New York harbor have detailed extra guards to the most important batteries and stationed additional sentinels to patrol the waterfront and the country inland for some distance from the fortifications. Major General Wood, commanding the department of the east, said, however, that no instructions to this effect had been issued from his headquarters.

'BONE DRY' TIME COMING FOR THE HOOSIER STATE

State-Wide Prohi Bill Passed by Both Houses of the Legislature.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 2.—The state-wide prohibition bill, which would make Indiana dry after April 2, 1918, was passed by the state senate today, 38 to 11. The bill had already passed the house, but now goes back to that body for action on senate amendments. The bill prohibits the sale, manufacture or distribution in any way of alcoholic beverages.

"BONE DRY" MEASURE SIGNED FOR TENNESSEE.

Nashville, Tenn., February 2.—Governor Tom C. Rye this morning signed the "bone dry" bill which puts an end to all shipments of liquor as beverage into the state after March 1. Between today and March 1 individuals may order one gallon for personal or family use.

"DRY" VICTORY WON IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Columbia, S. C., February 2.—Prohibition won a sweeping victory in South Carolina today when the Richey bill, prohibiting the shipment of any intoxicants into the state except for medicinal, sacramental and scientific purposes, passed from second to third reading in the house of representatives today. After two days of debate, the test vote came this afternoon when the house refused to strike out the enacting words of the measure by a vote of 73 to 28. Before the final vote amendments making the bill more inelastic and rigid were adopted. The storage of intoxicants in any quantity, even in the home, is prohibited by the measure.

DRYS DEFEATED IN TEXAS HOUSE.

Austin, Texas, February 2.—A proposal to submit the question of state-wide prohibition to Texas voters was defeated in the house of the state legislature tonight by a vote of 89 to 47. Ninety-five affirmative votes would be necessary to pass the resolution. By agreement the defeated measure was spread on the journal and may thus be called up again later.

"BONE DRY" ALASKA, ORDERED BY CONGRESS.

Washington, February 2.—The Alaska "bone dry" prohibition bill, already passed by the senate, was passed today in the house without a roll call after an unsuccessful fight to prevent its consideration.

OREGON GOES "BONE-DRY."

Salem, Ore., February 2.—Oregon is "bone-dry" tonight. Governor Withycombe today signed the absolute prohibition bill recently passed by the legislature and immediately became law. The new law prohibits importation of liquor except for medicinal or religious purposes.

"DRY" SUNDAY IS FACED BY NEW ORLEANS PEOPLE

New Orleans, February 3.—Orders for a "dry" Sunday in New Orleans were issued today by Harold Newman, commissioner of public safety. The police, in accordance with the order, served notice upon saloons, restaurants, hotels and clubs that the closing law will be strictly enforced, beginning next Sunday. Several prominent clubs posted notices today, stating their bars would be closed Sunday. Under the law, hotels and restaurants are permited to serve wine with meals on Sunday, but they are not allowed to serve beer or other liquors.

TWO INTERNED GERMANS ESCAPE AT BALTIMORE

Baltimore, February 2.—Two of the crew of the interned steamer Rhein escaped from that ship, with their belongings, last night, and a search of the city has been started. Five of the crew of the steamer Neckar were caught stealing away from that vessel tonight by customshouse agents. They were turned back and a heavier guard has been instituted around the ships.

Crime, Says Bryan, For United States To Enter the War

Nebraskan Says Germany Is Not an Enemy and Does Not Want War With This Country.

New York, February 2.—William J. Bryan declared at a peace mass meeting in Madison Square Garden here tonight that it would be a crime against the nation and the world if the United States enters the European war. He praised President Wilson's efforts in behalf of peace and asserted that the president's recent address to the senate had placed him among the nation's immortals.

The mass meeting was called by the American neutral conference committee to voice approval and support of the president's peace policies. A resolution was adopted pledging unfaltering support of the president in any effort to keep the nation out of war.

Mr. Bryan aroused the audience to enthusiasm when he asserted the constitution should be amended by providing for a referendum on the declaration of war.

"No nation has challenged the United States," Mr. Bryan declared, "but if any nation had, this would be the answer," he said, "the country should give:

"No, we have the welfare of 100,000,000 people to guard; priceless principles to preserve and we will not wallow with you in a mire of blood to conform to false standards."

Another declaration that caused prolonged applause was:

"God forbid that we should go to war with a nation that is not an enemy and does not want war with us."

"I have confidence in our president," Mr. Bryan said. "Never has the president been more anxious to do what is best for our country or what the people believes is best for them."

Mr. Bryan was applauded when he said the president is a student of history, and "he knows the paths of history are lined with the wrecks of empires built on physical force."

He added that the philosophy that the peace of the world can be kept by being armed to the teeth has been exploded.

COLDEST WEATHER OF YEAR EXPECTED

Temperatures as low as 28 degrees were registered in the central and northern sections of the state today, but a high wind prevented any crop damage, according to reports received here. Temperatures of from 20 to 25 degrees are forecasted for the central and northern sections tonight, while freezing weather, it was said, will extend into extreme southern Florida.

Growers tonight, however, declared they anticipated little damage if the weather got no colder than that experienced today, but weather bureau warnings caused unusual activity throughout the east and west coast and central Florida fruit and trucking regions. Smudge heater fires were prepared in the groves, tender crops covered with burlap or pine straw and nursery trees banked with sand.

COLD WAVE THREATENS SOUTH GA. WHEAT CROP.

Moultrie, Ga., February 2.—Special.) The coldest wave known here in twenty years sent the temperature down to twenty this morning, and it has been below the freezing point throughout the day. It is believed that tonight's freeze will destroy the oat crop of this section. It is the largest ever planted and if it is killed it will mean a loss of thousands of dollars.

VEGETATION KILLED IN THOMAS COUNTY.

Thomasville, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—Extreme cold and heavy winds of almost storm proportions have given south Georgia the coldest weather it has experienced in twelve years. The mercury went down to twenty-one here this morning and is expected to go much lower tonight. All tender vegetation is killed and truck gardens, where not well protected, have been wiped out.

BRIDGE BLOWN DOWN ACROSS SATILLA RIVER.

Waycross, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—Two hundred feet of the cover and sides of the Satilla river bridge on the Waycross-Blackshear road were blown down this afternoon. Unusually high winds throughout the day caused some damage in all sections of the county, fences and outhouses especially suffering. In Waycross not so much damage was done.

The temperature dropped nearly 40 degrees in twelve hours, registering 23 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning. Tonight it was colder and a new low record for this section is expected.

Nine Above in Tift.

Tifton, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—Tifton and this section of south Georgia face tonight probably the coldest weather of which there is any record. At 6 o'clock tonight the thermometer registered 15 degrees above zero and at 8 oclock the mercury had fallen to 9 degrees above. Fruit trees, truck and early gardens are certainly killed.

This morning at 6 o'clock the mercury registered 34 degrees above zero, which was low enough to kill vegetation. Throughout the day the temperature remained practically stationary, but at 5 o'clock began rapidly to fall.

All young cabbage ready for shipment will prove a total loss, and it is feared tonight's low temperature will kill the orange trees. The monetary loss will run into the thousands. It is perfectly clear, but a fitful gale ranging from thirty to 60 miles, has prevailed all day and is raging tonight.

General Bricken Resigns.

Montgomery, Ala., February 2.—General Charles R. Bricken tonight announced his resignation as brigadier general of the Alabama national guard, which has been sent to General Funston as ranking officer of the division. General Bricken states he finds it impossible to do justice to both the brigadier generalship and judge of the court of appeals, to which he was recently sworn in, hence surrenders his military ambitions.

IT'S A BLOCKADE, GERMANY ASSERTS

Declares the U-Boat Order Complies With Formalities of Law—Expects to Force England to Knees.

Berlin, February 2.—(Via London.)—The German government's action concerning naval warfare is construed here as constituting the declaration of a blockade in accordance with all the formalities of international law, with the blockade limits set forth in definite form, the customary notice to neutrals and the usual period of grace in which neutral shipping caught within the blockade zone may pass out of it. The variant element from the blockades of history is that the blockade will be enforced by submarines in addition to other naval methods and that the exception is offered to the United States that one passenger steamer will be permitted to sail to and from Falmouth weekly under prescribed methods.

This is the answer of the central powers to the entente's rejection of their peace overtures. It is the method adopted after long hesitation in an avowed endeavor to bring the war to the quickest possible end. At the largely attended meeting of the ways and means committee of the reichstag, at which the chancellor announced the momentous decision of the central powers, there was little flourish of trumpets, although the events of the day may rank in historical importance with the 1st and 4th of August, 1914.

What Germany Expects to Do.

Expectations expressed in unofficial circles here that as a result of the unrestricted submarine eampaign, the amount of tonnage sunk each month can be increased to about 1,000,000 tons, are based upon available figures showing the total amount of British tonnage, which is estimated at 11,000,000 to 12,000,000 tons. This is believed here to be the gross registered tonnage upon which England can count for the import of necessary supplies, wheat, ores, munitions, etc., and for the export of coal to her allies.

It is asserted that grain shipments from Australia to England are making steadily increased demands upon this tonnage which also must transport from Denmark 60 per cent of England's butter supply and from Holland virtually all of her margerine supply. Any considerable reduction of this tonnage, it is claimed, would limit England's supply of breadstuffs so critically as to force peace within a few months.

On the other hand, if the United States should be drawn into the war, these unofficial critics foresee a prolongation of the war and, as a conclusion, Europe completely exhausted and America weakened, while Japan's military strength, they assert, virtually would be unimpaired and her financial resources vastly increased.

Captain Persius, writing in The Tageblatt, throws a dash of cold water upon such reasoners, which include some of his colleagues among the naval writers, by declaring that British tonnage undoubtedly will be greatly increased during the war by the building of new bottoms. He also warns them against making too optimistic estimates of the prospective achievements of German submarines and against regarding too lightly the probable counter-measures upon which, he asserts, the British admiralty undoubtedly is zealously working.

No Consideration for Aliens.

The semi-official Cologne Gazette declares that an adverse American reply to Germany's submarine notification will not change Germany's intention.

"We cannot for a second time," says the newspaper, "have any consideration for alien interests. Our honor and existence are too greatly threatened by the new war declared by the entente."

The Frankfurter Zeitung discusses the submarine program without enthusiasm. It says the few men in high places who have taken the decision are answerable before their own people and before history.

"Only the most cogent and compelling reasons," says the newspaper, "can have induced the emperor and Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg to sanction the measure. Doubtless there have been negotiations between Berlin and Washington, but we are ignorant of their results. It cannot be imagined, however, that there can be any new yielding to American protestations and it therefore must be assumed that the imperial authorities are firmly convinced German strength will be able to hold its own against an onset of the whole world. Whatever America may decide, the German people confront the foe fearlessly."

MACON AUDITORIUM PLANS ARE OPPOSED

Macon, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—A joint conference between committees from the chamber of commerce, Rotary club and city council, will be held next Monday, with a view to solving the auditorium question.

Both the chamber of commerce and the Rotary club oppose the plan of building an auditorium that seats only a few more than 3,000 people, taking the position that the city is growing so rapidly that it will be only a question of a few years before a much larger auditorium is needed.

Laurens Court Meets.

Dublin, Ga., February 2.—(Special.) A heavy criminal docket is keeping the superior court busy this week under Judge J. L. Kent. Two negroes were sent to the penitentiary for life for murdering a negro woman several weeks ago and throwing her body in a branch. Their trial consumed an entire day, and it was not until late next day that a verdict was reached. A negro, Rat Perry, of evil reputation, was sent to the penitentiary for ten years, after pleading guilty to assault.

GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA MUST WATCH EXPENSES

Montgomery, Ala., February 2.—The Alabama supreme court today held that expense accounts of state departments first must be approved by the governor, and that approval of expenses in the office of the attorney general is not merely a ministerial duty of the chief executive. The decision came in mandamus proceedings instituted by Attorney General Martin to force Governor Henderson to approve expenses incurred in the liquor raids at Girard, Ala., last May and June; to pay the personal expenses of the attorney general in that connection, and to pay the salary of Assistant Attorney General Perry Turner. The court holds incurring of expenses must be with and by the consent of the governor, and his approval of these accounts is not merely ministerial. The court holds, however, that the salary of Turner must be approved by the governor in so far as the agreement to engage him was approved by the chief executive.

VOTE ON IMMIGRATION BLOCKED IN SENATE

Washington, February 2.—Immediate reconsideration of the immigration bill, passed over the president's veto, by the house last night, was blocked in the senate today by Senator Reed, of Missouri, but agreement was reached to proceed to a vote on repassage of the measure at 4 p. m. next Monday.

Because of its uniform success in the treatment of all manner of blood disorders, extending over a period of more than half a century, S. S. S. is deservedly called the "King of Blood Remedies."

S. S. S. is not a cure-all, and its use has never been advised for every ill that flesh is heir to. It is strictly a blood remedy and tonic, and it is absolutely unrivalled for the wide range of diseases that come under the head of disorders of the blood.

Among these diseases are Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Eczema, Tetter, Malaria and other evidences of impurities which are indicated by irritations of the skin. Impurities in the blood also cause a general weakening of the system, which becomes run-down and impoverished.

There is no disorder of the blood that does not promptly yield to the purifying and cleansing powers of S. S. S. If you feel that your system is not in perfect condition, your blood is sluggish and a few bottles of S. S. S. will tone you up and put new life in your blood. TAFT AND WORLD PEACE.

Former President Taft's stand as spokesman for the League to Enforce Peace, as announced in his address before the National Chamber of Commerce, a liberal synopsis of which is reproduced upon this page, is broadly patriotic and humanitarian.

It is hard to picture a more appropriate and altogether a more inspiring occupation than that of an ex-president of these United States preaching the doctrine of patriotism and humanity—not circumscribed by the boundary lines of the nation, but with all limitations effaced so as to broaden its scope to include all of mankind.

That is the sort of doctrine Mr. Taft is preaching when he espouses the aims and purposes of the League to Enforce Peace; and he is preaching it in a way that reveals and makes impressive the fine caliber of the man and that shows him to be one whose mind rises above the mediocrity and petty prejudices of creed or party.

The tenor of Mr. Taft's address runs almost parallel with that of President Wilson's notable speech before the senate a few days ago.

Both of these great minds, it is evident, are striving to attain the same end, differing, if at all, only in non-essentials.

And particularly refreshing is it for Americans to have set before them the example of a great former president courageously and manfully supporting and bolstering the arm of the president in office, each man a leader in party faith diametrically opposed to the other.

Former President Taft could not do better with his great talents than he is doing in employing them to forward the cause of national patriotism and world-wide amity.

WHY NOT A FOOD COST LIMIT?

Reports tell us that even in Germany the price of potatoes is only half as great as it is in the United States today; that meats there are cheaper than here; that eggs, poultry, dairy products—in fact, all of the staple articles of food necessities, what there are of them—are to be had, if had at all, at prices from 30 to 50 per cent below what the American householder has to pay for the same commodity.

In the light of concurrent reports that Germany is threatened by a food famine this statement of conditions might appear somewhat paradoxical; but it is easily explained: The German government, foreseeing the food shortage, and anticipating that when that shortage should come the poor would starve first, while the rich alone would be able to buy from the wealthy dealers and speculators who inevitably would "corner" the supply, took the situation in hand and placed a limit upon the prices that could be charged for the various articles of diet. At the same time the German government fixed a limit upon the quantity of which any individual could avail himself, to the end that all share alike, for good or for bad.

Of course, this country is not facing any such extreme conditions as is Germany, but just the same the situation is getting too serious for comfort right here at home, with food costs mounting higher and higher with each week and through no apparent cause except the machinations of that old, abused, worked-to-death law of "supply and demand"—the supply diminishing and the demand growing in ratio greater. In other words, the people who eat have to pay for what they eat the extreme penny that the dealer in what is to be eaten can get for it.

A bushel of potatoes for which the householder today must pay $2.50 was worth not one-half that amount a year or so ago.

A drowning man clinging to a piece of wreckage would not quibble at paying ten thousand dollars—or his last penny—for a piece of rope just long enough to reach from him to shore; but that would not justify a general charge of ten thousand dollars for a few yards of rope.

Is not the prevailing—and constantly rising—cost of living in the United States today analogous with this illustration?

TRENCHES AS MEN-MAKERS.

When peace comes, the unmaimed men of the trenches—the war-pits that have made Men of them—will be the most efficient workers in the upbuilding of the country.

The Philadelphia Ledger, basing its opinion on the health record of the English forces, says that "if the war goes on much longer the trenches will be listed among the favored health resorts!"

This, of course, will be due to advanced medical science, for it is pointed out that in spite of hardships endured by the men in trench service the natural death rate is only three per thousand.

Commenting on this remarkable showing, The Philadelphia Ledger says:

> Smallpox, typhoid, typhus and other maladies are making their last stand against war doctors and surgeons with systematic inoculation. Formerly every large military camp was a hotbed of disease. Look at the recent record of the Mexican border. From May 1 to October 16 among 170,000 men there was not one death from typhoid, of which malady there were twenty-four cases in all. In the Spanish war, with less than 150,000 men, there were 20,000 cases and 2,192 deaths. Last summer Sir Alfred Keogh, surgeon general, reported twenty-two cases of typhoid among the British soldiers in France, and remarked that in former days with the same number of men in the field there would have been at least 80,000 cases.

"After the war," says a British health report, "we shall have a healthier, hardier race of men."

Trench life has its disadvantages, but it is toughening and muscle-making. We read of "the inferno of the trenches," and that is an apt description of them at times; but until now they have not been celebrated as "health resorts!"

Great is the outdoor life—when it isn't exposed to the dangers of the war fronts!

Our own preparedness camps have demonstrated that the war-game, even in play, is a rejuvenation—a health-maker which has served to keep the doctor from the door.

PASS THE HORSESTEAK!

Aesthetic America shrugged its shoulders and gasped just a little, perhaps, when it learned the other day that the New York board of health had officially sanctioned the sale of horse flesh in Gotham. Henceforth, says the announcement, horse round and sirloin, "short ribs," etc., will be regularly on sale at from 12 to 6 cents a pound.

And why not?

The eating of horse flesh is repugnant to the average run of people largely through whimsical prejudice tinged with sentiment, superinduced by custom. It is not so much the thing itself as the thought of it that sticks in people's throats. Because, as a matter of plain hygienic fact, no beast is cleaner in its habits, more choice in its own diet.

Disassociate horse flesh from thoughts of Old Gray and Dobbin, and there's not a more healthful meat to be had. Compare, for instance, the feeding and general habits of the horse—strictly a vegetarian—with those of the chicken, the duck, the goose, the hog or even the bovine species. That alone should be sufficient to efface the last vestige of qualm at the eating of his flesh.

Of course, nobody wants to eat, nor advocate the consumption of, the flesh of the faithful old servant horse, the family pet; nor is there particular pleasure in eating the flesh of a faithful old ox which has served the household patiently and well, nor baby's pet lamb, nor the tractable Billy-goat which has been the youngsters' companion and protector.

But there are thousands of horses in the United States unfit for the uses to which horses ordinarily are put, whose flesh, at from "six to twelve cents a pound" might prove to be attractive to many people who want meat and need it, but who are unwilling to pay prevailing beef and mutton prices for it. So if they wish to use horse flesh as a food—why be squeamish about it?

Departing from our shores, Poet Tagore had no criticism whatever of American money.

A good old maxim to bear in mind these mornings when one comes to an icy spot on the sidewalk is "The longest way round is the shortest way home"—or to the office!

The "Back to the Farm" slogan is mighty popular in the spareribs and backbone season.

With the price of both eggs and potatoes about keeping pace in the upward climb, the latter still has the best of it, since there's no loss and nobody suffers when they're dropped on the floor or sat upon in the car.

"Hogs are higher," says a market report. (Not the end-seat one. You don't catch him strap-hanging.)

A trifle frigid, perhaps, for Dixie; but get a newspaper, say, from the northwest and read where they've had 50 continuous days of snow-covered landscape. Then stir up the grate and be happy that you're in Georgia!

Here's optimism for you: The Newark News says that "the banging on the battle fronts may be the peace door swinging in the wind."

"Marching from Mexico" ought to make a popular song-hit. At least, it would be with Pershing's men.

Cardinal Gibbons says that "the war has not proven Christianity a failure." Granted; but will someone please tell us what, if anything, the war has proven?

Or settin the world all aflame;
My hand may not have that old famed Midas touch
Makin' gold of aught to it that came.
My name is not carved in the hallway of fame,

But I'm pluggin' along with a smile an' a song,

"When life's fitful fever is over at last
And I am asleep on the hill,
When all of my trials are over and past,

Just a-pluggin' along with a smile an' a song
An' a-doin' the best 'at he could.'"

COMMITTEE ON SITES FOR GOVERNMENT CAMP WILL MEET SATURDAY

A meeting of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce committee on sites for the proposed army cantonment in the southeast has been called for Saturday at noon at the chamber of commerce quarters for the purpose of reviewing the progress that has been made in meeting the requirements for such a camp as recently outlined by General Leonard Wood, and to take up further details of the move to obtain the location of this camp upon a site in the vicinity of Atlanta.

The committee is very much encouraged over the progress so far made. It has in sight already some seven or eight tracts of 1,000 acres and upward and several of these sites will be very attractive to the government. Much of this land is already under option on the regular option blanks ready to turn over to the government.

President Ivan E. Allen is very desirous that all sites to be submitted shall be in hand properly signed by time of the committee meeting. Option blanks can be secured at the chamber of commerce.

Anyone having a site to submit is asked to confer with the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce committee on the cantonment site, which is as follows:

B. M. Grant, J. H. Ewing, S. B. Turman and Forrest Adair. Any one of these gentlemen, it is announced, will be glad to make practical suggestions as to the qualifications and restrictions required by the government.

DIXIE BAPTIST LAYMEN TO HOLD A CONVENTION IN ATLANTA MARCH 10

There will be held in Atlanta on March 10-12 a Baptist Laymen's convention of the southeastern states, which will be one of the two great laymen's meetings ordered by the Southern Baptist convention at its last session in Asheville, N. C. The other meeting will be held at Shreveport, La. Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, District of Columbia and southern Illinois will be represented at the meeting.

Each state has its local organization of laymen, and it is expected that the attendance will reach 1,500. Professor J. T. Henderson, of Knoxville, Tenn., is executive secretary of the Baptist Laymen's movement of the south. He spent last Monday in Atlanta in conference with the local committee on the convention.

The Georgia Laymen's committee is headed by J. P. Nichols, of Griffin, with whom are associated twenty-four prominent Baptists from various parts of the state.

The Atlanta committee handling the convention is composed as follows: Charles W. Daniel, chairman; John F. Purser, W. H. Major, R. H. Clemons, George W. McCarty, Arthur Hale Gordon, S. P. Moncrief, I. M. Sheffield, D. E. Edenfield, W. W. Orr, Henry Alford Porter, W. W. Gaines, J. E. Raley and E. L. Harling.

MAYOR NOT DISCOURAGED OVER CITY'S PROSPECTS TO SECURE THE PLAZA

Mayor Candler is not discouraged over the prospects for the plaza plan going through in spite of objections from Louisville and Nashville railroad officials and the almost certainty that the leasing commission will not include this feature in the new lease of the W. & A. road.

He is confident that the city of Atlanta will put through the plaza and he is satisfied that the plan can not in the least injure the L. & N. railroad. He thinks that if the roads are confronted with the choice between bridging all grade crossings coming into the city and electrifying their trains after they get in the city limits, a course possible under the authority of the city, it is stated, or the plaza plan, they will choose the latter.

He regards the plaza as a turning point in the progress of the city and feels that without the plaza the city must endure the smoke nuisance, be hampered in her progress and halted in her growth. He declares that there is no doubt of the city's right to abolish grade crossings, smoke nuisance and make the roads electrify their trains into the city.

Former President Outlines Peace League's Plan Before National Commerce Body

Washington, February 2.—Former President William Howard Taft, in his address in which he outlined the plan of the League to Enforce Peace, at a dinner here tonight under the auspices of the National Chamber of Commerce, put the league on record as commending "in the highest terms the advanced and courageous and patriotic position that the president has taken in urging that the United States lead in forming a world league to enforce peace in the interest of mankind."

He declared that the president "may properly act as a mediator between the warring nations and seek to bring about a peace that shall end the present horrors," and he said that "in so doing it is, of course, proper for him to suggest the kind of peace and the details which he hopes may attract the acceptance of the parties."

The former president said that the league for which he spoke has, however, "consistently refused" to take any part in movements looking to ending of the war because its members believe, in order to "accomplish its ultimate purpose" it is wiser "not to have to do with the issues necessarily involved in discussing peace." And, said Mr. Taft, the league "still maintains that attitude."

At the outset of his speech Mr. Taft said that—

"This National Chamber of Commerce by more than two-thirds votes of all its members gave its approval to the first, second, and fourth proposals of the League to Enforce Peace. It approved by a large majority vote the third proposal involving the use of an international police force to suppress war. Since then, much support has been given the league in this country and by all the belligerent nations of this great war."

Answers Critics of Plan.

With reference to expressed opposition to the league, the former president said:

"Mr. Roosevelt, apparently without reading its proposals, denounces the league as 'feeble folly' and as prompted by motives peculiarly base because it would enforce the judgment of courts of arbitration. Then upon learning that the proposals do not involve enforcement of judgments, he characterizes them as a 'flagrant deception of the public.' Senator Borah denounces the plan of the league to be 'heinous, immoral and vicious.' These are three formidable adjectives, of which one would seem adequate to carry the argument. The senator, however, qualifies his words by disavowing intention to assail individuals. The senator should look to his laurels in the field of verbal warfare and slaughter, because such leniency may exclude him from the class of epithetical statesmen.

"With deference to the ability of our opponents to grasp our proposals by intuition, we submit that before they are contemptuously rejected, or scattered into bits by verbal lyddite, they are entitled to study.

Purpose of League.

"The purpose of the league," said Mr. Taft, "is to organize the world's strength into an international police to enforce a procedure with respect to issues likely to lead to war, which will prevent all wars but those which nothing can prevent.

"The procedure to be enforced is the submission of questions of a legal nature, the decision of which must be guided by rules of law, to an international court for its judgment, and the submission of all other questions to an impartial commission to hear and decide, its decision to take the form of a recommendation of compromise. The judgment of the legal question by the court will be legally and in honor binding on the parties. That is implied in a submission to a court. The recommendation of compromise, however, is not in law or in honor binding unless the parties accept it. The league does not purpose to enforce either. Some time, if the league comes into successful operation, it may be thought well to enforce judgments just as domestic judgments are enforced."

The speaker further said:

"Practically, if we enforce the procedure of the league, we shall take a step which will rid us of most wars.

"If every issue between nations is forced to arbitration and judgment or recommendation of compromise, it will compel deliberation by those who think of war," he continued, "It will enable the quarreling peoples to understand what it is they are to fight about, and what the attitude of their opponents is. The decision of impartial tribunals can not but have great influence, and will form the public opinion of the world. The period of delay itself will abate heat and induce calmer views. It is the successful practice of arbitration that leads to its adoption."

"Habit" of Arbitration.

He said that the effect of arbitration has "created a habit" between the United States and Canada.

"No one," he declared, "imagines a war between the United States and Canada. If an issue defies negotiation, everyone looks to a peaceful settlement. This is because it has been tried so often and because we have grown used to winning and losing.

"To make arbitration useful," Mr. Taft said, "the state of mind of nations in regard to arbitration should be brought to that of the strict and orthodox Puritans that one must be willing to be damned if he would be saved.

"Practice in arbitration," he went on, "produces this state of mind and this confidence is the method. The league enforces this practice, the educational effect of which upon nations in showing the possibility of such peaceful settlement of disputes will be invaluable. The procedure will become as of course and the habit of such settlements will be formed."

Need of Armed Force.

Explaining the need of a measure of force to make the purposes of the league effective, Mr. Taft drew the analogy of a municipal police force and of the state militia.

"The existence of a police force," he said, "and the power to call out the militia and to invoke the aid of the army of the United States generally secure public order without their actual mobilization or use. They also serve who only stand and wait. So the potential existence of a police force of such overwhelming nature as the united armies and natives of the world would furnish, and the threat of destructive isolation by a withdrawal of all commerce with all neighbors, would, except in rare cases, accomplish the purpose of this organization of world force without its use.

"Objection is made," he said later on, "that the United States in joining such a league will violate the advice and example of Washington and Jefferson as to entangling alliances. Neither had a conception of the plan of a world league or of the present conditions making it wise and necessary. I agree that the league will be a change of policy heretofore maintained by us, but it will be a change by enlargement and growth to meet new exigencies, and not a departure in principle.

Broader Monroe Doctrine.

"In 1823," said the speaker, "we adopted the Monroe Doctrine involving a possibility of complications with Europe which properly gave our statesmen great concern. Jefferson and Madison were in favor of our maintaining an alliance with Great Britain in order to enforce the doctrine. Yet Jefferson was the inventor of the phrase 'entangling alliances.' The fact that such an alliance was for a high purpose and the common good, in his mind evidently prevented its being an 'entangling' alliance. The Monroe Doctrine was adopted by us in our then lack of strength with far greater risk than we would face in the league. The doctrine was proclaimed because of the danger to the United States which we feared from proximity of European intrigue against our independence and form of government. Now Europe and the rest of the world have been brought so near us not only by speed of transportation and communication, but by the extension of our interests to the Pacific, to Asia, to South America, to the West Indies, that we no longer enjoy isolation. We are now quite as likely to be drawn into European and Asiatic difficulties as we were likely to be injuriously affected by European interposition in South America in the days of President Monroe. President Wilson has said that in the next world war, there will be no neutrals. If the science of killing men and destroying countries improves in the next war as it has in this, he is fully justified. We may well join the league as a protection."

Mr. Taft declared that "the league instead of being an abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine will aid in its maintenance because violations of the Monroe Doctrine beginning with threatened hostilities by a European or Asiatic power against one of the American republics would be halted by the league with an examination of the ground of quarrel by a court or commission. The success of the Monroe Doctrine for now ninety-three years without firing a shot," he said, "shows the effect of a threat of force upon the conduct of the world without the necessity for its exercise. The great power of the league of the world and the international police would afford for the maintenance of its policies a far greater sanction."

The hearing is still in progress.

During the past thirty days the demands made on his office have exceeded anything he has known in the past, he said. E. W. PROBERS SEARCH FOR MISSING LINK

In the "Leak" Case—Telegraph Operators Deny Handling Message From Connolly to Hutton--Hearing Shifts to Washington.

New York, February 2.—Pressure of international affairs today caused the congressional committee that has been investigating the so-called "leak" on President Wilson's recent peace note to transfer the inquiry to Washington. Examination of witnesses will be resumed there tomorrow morning. Further hearings on particularly pertinent local angles of the case probably will be resumed here as soon as the committeemen think their congressional duties in Washington will permit.

The committee returned to Washington determined further to sound at once the source of transmission of F. A. Connolly's advance resume of the president's note from Connolly's Washington brokerage office to E. F. Hutton & Co. New York brokers. If possible, George A. Ellis, Jr., a member of the Hutton firm, who put Connolly's information into a telegraphic warning to all of Hutton's correspondents in the United States ten hours before the note was released, will be the first witness called. Ellis was due to arrive in Washington tonight from Savannah.

Connolly's testimony that he sent his information in a message by private wire from his office to the Hutton house now has been disputed by every telegrapher in Hutton's employ who, according to Sherman L. Whipple, counsel to the committee, might have received the message. Joseph W. Becker, the Connolly private wire operator in Hutton's office, first disputed Connolly's story on the stand yesterday and today other telegraphers from the Hutton offices examined by Whipple swore they had not received it.

The missing link in the testimony of all telegraphers who may have handled the message is that of the two operators in Connolly's office. They will be early witnesses.

Committeemen injected many questions into the record today about the possibility of telephonic communication between the Hutton and Connolly houses when it developed that the private wire might be used either for telegraphing or telephoning. Records of all long distance calls between the two offices during the "peace note period," if any exist, will be subpoenaed.

Satisfaction was expressed by committeemen on starting back to Washington tonight over the results of the local hearings. That there was a "leak" of some kind no longer is seriously questioned by any of them. Discovery of its existence through the testimony was a surprise to the committee, none of its members suspecting before coming here that such messages existed as have been unearthed.

So important are the Hutton-Connolly messages considered that the whole inquiry now is centered in unfolding all the facts surrounding them. The close of the inquiry is distant, apparently, for even after the subject of these messages shall have been exhausted the committee will have many other angles to investigate. A request for an extension of the time in which the committee shall report on its inquiry to the house is expected. The present time limit will expire in about ten days.

W. & A. LEASE MAY BE SIGNED TODAY

tude of the commission is that unless a lease can be negotiated which is advantageous to the state of Georgia, there will be no lease signed with the present bidder unless a new bid is submitted.

Just what the points are that are now holding the commission and the bidder apart are not known. It is reasonable to believe, however, that the following points have been decided upon, though this is only a surmise and without verification from either the commission or the bidder:

The term of the lease will be forty-seven years.

The road will not be subject to taxation in the counties through which it runs.

There will be no clause in the lease contract providing for a future consideration by a representative of the state of Atlanta's plan for the construction of a plaza over the tracks of the Western and Atlantic railroad in the business district of Atlanta.

The state road is to be double-tracked between Atlanta and Cartersville.

There are to be certain improvements of the terminal facilities of the road in Atlanta and Chattanooga.

The monthly rental of the road will be somewhere between $40,000 and $50,000.

DEKALB COURTHOUSE PLANS ARE APPROVED

Decatur, Ga., February 2.—(Special.) Plans for the re-building of DeKalb county's courthouse were approved Friday morning by the committee acting under Commissioner Freeman and actual work of construction is expected to begin within a month.

The plans approved by the committee were those offered by Walker & Chase, Atlanta architects. The plans provide for the erection of two annexes, one on the east and one on the west sides of the building, in place of porticos which were in these places on the old building.

J. Warren Kerrigan Draws Big Crowds To Atlanta "Movie"

Mabel Tries Hard to Resist the Lure, Fails, and Slips Off to Meet Him After Refusing to Go With Britt.

By Britt Craig.

I called up Mabel, the well-known divorcee and manicurist, and said:

"Mabel, how would you like to meet J. Warren Kerrigan, the celebrated handsome man?"

Mabel said:

"Personally, I think life's most monumental superfluity is a male beauty. Furthermore, I have a bad cold from riding in taxi-cab to the Southeastern Land show last night. And in addition to all there, there will be so many other women in line that the police won't let me through."

"Why don't you say you don't want to go?" I said, "and save the Southern Bell's time."

Mabel's Opinion.

Which brought on more talk, Mabel saying:

"They say he wears a wrist watch and a handkerchief in his cuff, and puts rose powders in his clothes chest. I have no immediate use for a man who parts his name in the middle. I would rather associate with a downright hard guy."

"But Mabel," I said, "this Kerrigan is a regular. We might frame him up on a party, or something. None of that wrist watch stuff with him. He's a man that is. I don't see why you want to complain, when you went wild over meeting Lionel Barrymore and Clifton Crawford in New York."

Mabel said:

"You asked me a question, didn't you—and I answered it—didn't I? Well!"

"Then you won't go?" I said.

"I wouldn't go in a golden chariot if it was steam-heated a day like this," she said, so I hung up.

Then I went down to the Alamo No. 2 theater alone, and hunted up the box office, and found Sig Samuels chatting with a big fellow in corduroy and a wide Stetson hat.

I Meet Kerrigan.

Sig Samuels shook hands with me, patted me inquisitively on both hip pockets (it being a raw, cold day) and then introduced me to Mr. Kerrigan. This Kerrigan has a handshake as firm as the Sunday law in Gainesville. We all sat down and commenced calling each other by first names, and presently, when I got up and started to go, Jack said:

"I wonder why that fellow doesn't come back—is it as hard to get as that in this town?"

I resumed my seat.

Jack told us about the new moving picture company he is going to head, the J. Warren Kerrigan Producing corporation. He will be directed by Oscar Apfael, who used to direct William Farnum in his bloodiest melees. His leading co-star will be Lois Wilson, the Alabama stenographer who was on a Birmingham newspaper, won a beauty prize and went into pictures two years ago.

Jack insisted on talking about Bessie Barriscale, and I said: "What's the idea, Jack, are you in love with Bess, or something? Don't you know she's married to Howard Hickman, the well-hated villain?"

He said: "What does that have to do with her going in a new company of her own? (We agreed to put this in the story to advertise Bessie, as she is a close personal friend of Jack's.)

A Bottle is Delivered.

There was a rap on the door. "There he is now," said Jack, eagerly. My heart fluttered. "See," said Sig Samuels, "I told you he would get it and be back in a little while." I said: "Sure, this town's not so dry, after all." In came the boy. He delivered a bottle. Jack unwrapped it. Then he uncorked it, sank his fountain pen into it and absorbed a half-gill of special purple ink he uses in autographing his pictures.

A buzzer buzzed, and Jack hustled upstairs to go on-stage and deliver his 10-a-day oration. The theater was filled with mostly women and girls. There were more middle-aged women than girls. And there was a great lot of married women. I later told Jack that I'll bet the husbands would form a combine against him if they dared oppose their wives that far.

Jack told the ladies he sure appreciated their support, which made his job permanent, and said he would try to write to them all if they would write to him, as a good many have already done. He said he personally read all of his mail, which required two postmen to bring in each morning, and that he, himself, answered each letter.

When he finished his bit on stage, he came down and stood in the exit to shake hands with the passing throng. You should have seen the women. Some of them gurgled, some wiped a tear of joy away with one fist and held Jack's with the other; some handed him cards on the quiet, and some said: "Do call me up—my number's oompty-oomp-oomp Juniper!" Jack said in each instance he would be tickled to death to do it, and the women went away shouting with joy.

They All Shook Hands.

No woman in the house declined to shake hands with him. None of them lost a chance. Some of them took other women's chances, as well as their own. Everybody shook hands with Jack but some husbands I know. It took him thirty minutes to say au revoir to his guests. His fingers must have been worn to a frazzle. I have never seen a politician who could shake more hands in a day.

Finally, when we had again adjourned to the box office, an usher came back and whispered to Jack that there was a young lady out in front of the house who just must see him for a moment on a most important matter. Jack, ever ready to oblige the ladies, went with the usher. I heard the lady greet him.

She said: "Oh, Mr. Kerrigan, I am so terribly, terribly glad to meet you. I have adored your work for years. There is no one on the screen more handsome, more gifted, more virile. All the girls in my set positively idolize you.

"They think you are a god personified—a sort of flesh-and-blood Adonis, you know. The fire you put into the characters you portray, the vim, vigor, vitality—the brio, don't you know—is simply marvelous. You are wonderful. And I am so glad to meet you."

"The pleasure is indeed mine," said Mr. Kerrigan.

The slight husk on the lady's voice—caused by a recent cold—could not disguise the familiar note I detected. Unwilling to trust my eavesdropping ears, I rushed through the door to establish corroboration by my eyes.

My ears had not deceived me.

For there, fondly clasping the hand of J. Warren was none other than—

You're right!

Mabel.

PETITE HAZELLE,
Juvenile star whose dancing will be one of the bright features of Children's day at the Southeastern Land show.

Vaudeville Program.

A special vaudeville performance will be staged during the day, among the features of which are to be the singing and dancing of the little Misses Petite Hazelle and Ethel Fischer, and the gyrations of a pair of midgets "made-up" to impersonate a hen and a rooster.

If the weather permits, the merry-go-round will be running full tilt just outside the building, and Bohemia will be in full blare from morning until night.

All in all, it will be a jolly day of rollicking, jovial merrymaking and learning for the little folk, with lots of variety, and everything clean and wholesome. Especial care will be taken of the children who may be unaccompanied by adults, with volunteer chaperons, etc., and plenty of young Boy Scouts on hand to see that all goes well.

The state of the atmosphere served to keep the crowds down during the day yesterday, the attendance running about 6,000. Many who came to the city expressly to attend the show remained in their hotels rather than to brave the cutting air, so of course a proportionately greater number of Atlantans remained beside their grates at home, deferring their visit to the land show pending a moderation in the temperature.

However, all who went found the interior of the building comfortable, since the furnace was going at full blast all day long. It was the out-of-doors unpleasantness that kept the people away. The attendance under the circumstances only indicates that a change in weather will bring forth crowds greater even than was anticipated. And every man, woman and child who has attended the land show thus far has expressed pleasure at the entertainment given, and with the exhibits.

Miss Flossie Seaman, 67 East Mitchell street, Atlanta, drew the lucky number which won for her a lot in one of the beautiful residential suburbs of Jacksonville, Fla., twelve of which are to be given away by chance drawing, one each night, at 9:30, until the twelve are gone. This drawing is under the auspices of the Duvall county exhibit, in charge of J. Harvey Whitney.

Stanley Jones, an insurance agent, unmarried, living at 206 Rawson street, Atlanta, was the first person to realize from the free land drawings, which are a feature of the Southeastern Land show.

Mr. Jones Thursday night held ticket No. 157, which was the lucky number in the Duvall county, Florida, drawing, and won for him a lot, also in a Jacksonville suburb.

One of these lots will be thus allotted each evening during the life of the show, every visitor registering during the day being given an equal chance to win. They are valued at not less than $50 each.

This is only one of several such and similar opportunities open to visitors to the show.

Chicago Herald Day.

A telegram received at the offices of the land show last night announced that February 13 has been chosen for Chicago Herald day at the land show. On this day, according to the wire, there will be a lecture with films and slides with Yellowstone park reels.

The Herald is an active factor in the land show and has done great work in other shows of like nature. The day set aside here on the date mentioned is promised to be one of the most interesting and entertaining of the entire period.

Darktown Terrorized By White Men, Assert Negroes to the Police

Charged with being drunk and disorderly after having, according to the stories of the call officers, terrorized darktown for 30 minutes, H. E. Cline, age 28 years, a resident of 73 Auburn avenue, is locked up at police barracks following an escapade which occurred at the Auburn Palm garden, a negro soda fountain at 158 Auburn avenue.

According to the statements of the negroes, Cline, who is a white man, came into the place in an intoxicated condition, drew his knife and began to clean out the place. In the hurry of departure someone managed to break a plate glass window, turn over numerous tables and otherwise demolish the trim appearance of the place.

Cline was caught by several negroes and held until the arrival of Officers Wade and Boozer.

TIFTON FARM SCHOOL PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Tifton, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—Today marked the close of a four-day session of the State Farm school, which had for its object the education of the farmer in the direction of crop diversification, stock-raising and domestic science. There have been three sessions each day, twelve in all, and the best equipped teachers from the State College of Agriculture have discussed in a highly illuminating way every phase of farm life.

At 3 o'clock yesterday a stock parade which included Holsteins, Jerseys, Angus and Shorthorns drew representative farmers from the counties of Tift, Worth, Turner, Berrien, Irwin and Colquitt.

The program for today embraced poultry production, girls' club work, farm demonstration work, hog raising, marketing farm products, stock judging, home economics demonstration for women and club members, poultry inspection and demonstration, breeds of poultry and home labor-saving devices.

All are agreed that the farm school has been a tremendous success, and undoubtedly will prove beneficial to the farmers of this section.

He was the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Gray, they having one daughter, Katherine. The boy was only three years old and remarkably bright. The deepest sympathy is felt for his parents and grandparents, both in this city and in Athens, the former home of Mrs. Gray.

Macon, Ga., February 2.—(Special.) Judge Matthews, presiding in the city court of Macon today, held that the American National Bank of Macon was not responsible for a draft drawn by a former cashier of the Bank of Gillsville and therefore does not have to make good to that bank.

The Gillsville bank had $1,500 on deposit in the Macon bank. The cashier of the Gillsville bank resigned and several days later drew a draft on the American National bank for $1,200, which was paid. The cashier was later arrested and convicted and then the Gillsville bank brought action to recover from the Macon bank.

COULD NOT SLEEP AT NIGHT

Tried Different Medicines But Nothing Did Her Any Good Until She Took Cardui.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful.

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. . . . I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui. I also suffered with my back.

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down, I was not able to straighten up again.

One day I picked up a Birthday Almanac and after reading it through, I decided I would try Cardui. By time I had taken half the bottle I felt a great improvement in myself and by time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well."

If you are tired and worn-out with female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Try it.—(adv.)

WHY HAVE GRAY HAIR

Sunshine and Air and Q-Ban Will Quickly Restore Its Natural Color.

DON'T USE DYES

You Can Have Soft, Lustrous, Handsome Hair in Abundance Without Sticky or Dangerous Chemicals—"Back to Nature."

Of course, the use of dyes to darken gray hair is unpleasant and not in good taste—even dangerous, in fact. But since the natural color can now be restored to gray or faded hair in a perfectly simple, healthful, natural way, why should anyone have gray hair? Why should you.

Sunshine and air, the good gifts of Nature, combined with the use of Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer, the good gift of science, will bring back the natural color of your hair, evenly and pleasantly, and just as surely as it is true that sunshine and air are free. Thousands of the foremost people in this country have restored their hair's natural color and renewed their youthful look in just this way. It is nothing to be ashamed of, like the use of dyes. Nor does it arouse suspicion, as dyes do by the unnatural appearance they give the hair.

All you need to do to gain rich and coveted beauty of hair, without a trace of gray, is to wet your hair with Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer, and when it is dry enough expose it to the free and pure sunshine and air, repeating this daily while your hair gradually and evenly returns to its original, uniform shade. Q-Ban does not pretend to work miracles overnight, remember. Such claims belong to dangerous dyes, sticky paints and fakes. Q-Ban's work is safe, permanent and natural, and keeps the change from making you conspicuous. Your hair will become more glossy, lustrous, soft, abundant and captivating.

Ironclad Guarantee

Q-Ban is all ready to use. It is not a dye. It is guaranteed to be harmless. A large bottle costs only 50c. It is the only guaranteed preparation for the purpose. Your money back if not satisfied.

The secret of Q-Ban's wonderful results is the process of oxidation brought about by the exposure of your hair to the air and sunshine after it has been applied. This very process makes it safe and sane and cleanly, and is one reason for Q-Ban's tremendous popularity. Beware of imitations. Q-Ban is made from a scientific formula of glycerin, swefel, alcohol, ethyle and delicate perfume—the discovery of great chemists. It is indorsed by Prof. Von Huber.

Put your trust in guaranteed Q-Ban and sunshine and air to restore gray hair. "Back to Nature." Get Q-Ban at Jacobs' drug stores or at any druggist's, or write Hessig-Ellis Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn., giving your druggist's name and address. Try Q-Ban Hair Tonic, Q-Ban Liquid Shampoo and Q-Ban Toilet Soap. Also Q-Ban Depilatory (odorless) for removing superfluous hair. Interesting illustrated booklet, "Hair Culture," sent free.—(adv.)

MRS. MELL WILKINSON HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Mrs. Mell R. Wilkinson, wife of the former president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, narrowly escaped serious burns at her Peachtree road home Friday morning while cleaning a dress with gasoline.

In some way the dress she was cleaning caught fire, and the blaze set her own clothing on fire. She hurried from the room and managed to extinguish the flames. The rug and curtains in the bathroom where she was working caught fire, and the woodwork was burnt before Fire company No. 11 could respond and extinguish the flames.

CRAWFORD WILL CASE IN THE COURTS AGAIN

The famous Crawford will case, which has been in Fulton courts off and on for several years, was again brought up yesterday when the executors of the $200,000 estate of the late Joshua Crawford sought to enjoin other claimants from suing on specified pieces of the property.

Two suits were filed by C. Z. Crawford, a nephew of the deceased, with other relatives, against Mrs. M. B. Crawford, the widow, and J. J. Barge, the documents involving holdings on Fourteenth street and farm lands in DeKalb county, both valued at $60,000.

The two defendants, Mrs. Crawford and Mr. Barge, are executors of the Crawford estate.

WEATHER HANDICAPS TABERNACLE WORKERS

Committees Expect to Make Good Report, However, at Meeting Sunday.

Though greatly handicapped by the extreme coldness of the weather Friday, the campaigning teams of the Baptist Tabernacle made good progress during the day and at the supper held Friday night announced that a number of subscriptions had been procured.

The campaign is going ahead regardless of the weather, but the unexpected cold has made it extremely difficult for speedy action.

Exact figures of contributions procured to date were to have been compiled and made public Friday night, but because of the interference of the weather it was announced that the figures would not be disclosed until the mass meeting to be held at the Tabernacle Sunday morning.

"However, we are making great headway," declared one of the directors. "We expect to clear up that $13,000 in the time allotted, too."

The teams will again take the streets today.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, BOY SCOUT HERE ON LONG HIKE

When it comes to "hitting the trail," J. W. Shattuck, a 19-year-old resident of Cleveland, Ohio, has difficulty in finding anyone with nerve enough to stay with him. Shattuck has taken numerous hikes through the country, some times covering hundreds of miles in one hike. Friday he reached Atlanta with his entire outfit on his back, and with the intention of journeying through the country to Birmingham, thence to Aberdeen, Miss.

At Birmingham Shattuck will be joined by a friend, Howard Watt, who will keep him company on his trip.

Shattuck's record hike was from Cleveland, Ohio, to Vermillion, Ohio, which, he states, is 43 miles, and which he covered in one journey of seven hours, walking the entire way. Also, he states, he stopped only for a 20-minute period, during which time he had his lunch.

He got his love of the open from his experience as a Boy Scout. He was at one time assistant scoutmaster of Troop 49, Cleveland, and was a member of the first Boy Scout troop organized in that section.

Shattuck will remain in Atlanta until the severe cold snap breaks, when he will continue his journey.

Rialto and Odeon Will Be Open Sunday For War Sufferers

Dr. F. E. May has arranged for unusually attractive programs of motion pictures at both the Rialto and Odeon theaters Sunday for the benefit of French and Belgian war sufferers.

At the Rialto the program will consist of both comedy and drama. "The Warning," a three-part Pathe thriller, featuring Creighton Hale, will be the drama, while the comedy will be furnished by "The Trap," a swift moving two-part production starring the popular merrymakers, Max Figman and Lolita Robertson.

At the Odeon the chief offering will be "Excuse Me," an elaborate production based on the play of the same name and declared by critics to be a film that is sure to be immensely popular. Because of the general recognition of the needs of war sufferers at this time and of the splendid programs scheduled, Dr. May is expecting an unusually big attendance at both theaters.

All funds received will be voluntary contributions.

Company D Organized Just 31 Years Ago; Present Sent to Nash

Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash has received from company D, of the Fifth regiment, a handsome pillow top, commemorating the thirty-first year of the organization of the company, which is now doing duty on the Mexican border. The design of the pillow is a red field with blue diagonals, the top triangle bearing the letter "D," the bottom triangle the abbreviation, "Ga.," the left triangle the date, "1886," the right triangle the date "1917."

The following is the letter sent to the adjutant general from the officers and non-commissioned officers of the company.

"Company D, Fifth Georgia infantry, was organized thirty-one years ago last September. The company intended to give a supper during September, but owing to the unsettled conditions, it was postponed until Saturday, January 27. We wish you could have been with us, and, as we could not send you any oyster stew, we are doing the next best thing—send you a pillow top of the D company flag, and earnestly hope it will be received in the same spirit by the general as that in which it was sent by your old company."

Fight on Tuberculosis Among Cattle Shifted To South Georgia Farms

The state veterinarian's office is now concentrating in the southern part of the state its fight against tuberculosis among cattle.

The dairy herds of the northern part of the state have all been inspected, and inspection has now begun in the southern part of the state. This work will be rushed as rapidly as possible, says Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian, in order that the state may be free from tubercular cattle as early as possible.

FINE FILM READY TODAY FOR CHILDREN AT GRAND

The Atlanta Woman's club last night announced that "Shadows and Sunshine," one of the most popular children's photoplays ever produced, will be the headline attraction on the children's special matinee this morning at the Grand theater.

"Shadows and Sunshine" is a Pathe production, featuring one of the youngest child actresses alive, baby Marie Osborne, a girl of four years, who has reigned as a screen celebrity ever since the age of three.

In addition to this elaborate picture, a well-selected miscellaneous program, composed of educational, topical and industrial subjects, will be presented. Two performances will be given commencing at 9 a. m.

RECRUITING RECORDS WILL FALL THIS MONTH

Aroused by the existing crisis between this country and Germany, numerous recruits went to the station in the federal building Friday and offered their services to their country.

During the month of January 188 men were sent from this station to other points following their enlistment here, and from all indications the present condition in international affairs will result in a breaking of the January record.

Captain C. V. Heidt, commanding the station, declares that he expects more active recruiting this month than ever before in the local office.

German Consul Does Not Expect Germany And U. S. to Break

Though all indications from Washington point to the expectation of a break in diplomatic relations with Germany, Dr. Wilhelm Mueller, German consul here for the South Atlantic states, declares that he does not fear such action on the part of the United States.

The consul has not heard from Von Bernstorff since the delivery of the latest German submarine note at Washington, but bases his opinion on the former action of Wilson.

"If it had been President Wilson's intention to break with Germany," he is quoted as saying, "it seems to me that he would have done so already."

EPISCOPALIANS TO HOLD EVERY-MEMBER CANVASS

Sunday afternoon, February 4, an every-member canvass of all Episcopal parishes in the city of Atlanta will be undertaken by organizations working under direction of an executive committee composed of Rev. Russell K. Smith, rector of the Church of the Epiphany; Rev. V. C. Lacey, rector of Holy Trinity church, Decatur, and Rev. D. R. Ottman, rector of the Church of the Holy Comforter, South Atlanta.

The canvass is to follow a week of missionary work by rectors of the various churches and Rev. Robert W. Patton, missionary secretary for the province of Sewanee, and Rev. Lewis G. Wood, general secretary of the Forward Movements for Missions. These two men have been filling engagements in various places for the week in Atlanta and have been preparing the parishes for the canvass to come Sunday.

GOVERNMENT TO PROBE N. Y. COTTON EXCHANGE

Senate Passes Resolution Ordering the Attorney General to Act.

Washington, February 2.—The senate today passed the resolution of Senator Smith, of South Carolina, directing the attorney general to investigate buying and selling operations of the New York cotton exchange to ascertain if the methods employed were in restraint of trade. There was no debate.

The resolution recites that complaints from farmers, merchants and business men say cotton quotations on the exchange are made lower than prices in local spot markets and that this practice demoralizes the trade.

Later Senator Smith announced that he would confer with the attorney general regarding operations on the cotton exchange and recent fluctuation of prices. He said he proposed to give every opportunity for a thorough investigation, but if no remedy came through this channel, he would insist upon the appointment of a special senate committee to go to New York and institute a drastic inquiry.

New York, February 2.—Henry H. Royce, president of the New York Cotton exchange, said today the exchange would welcome any investigation as to its being in restraint of trade.

"Prices on the exchange are entirely the result of orders received by its members to buy and sell," he said. "The management of the exchange have absolutely nothing to do with prices. It in no way influences prices but, on the other hand, it is the public and no other agency that establishes the value of cotton.

"The business of the exchange by its members is conducted under the strict provisions of the United States cotton futures act, which was reacted to correct what was thought by some people to be conditions detrimental to the cotton interests."

Chicago Police Not Satisfied With Story Of "Mammy" Jackson

Reports from Chicago are to the effect that little Marjorie Delbridge, the abandoned girl who was born in Atlanta and has been reared by Aunt Camilla Jackson, the ante-bellum "mammy," in Chicago, may be of different parentage than that ascribed to her.

The Jackson woman first told investigating officers who sought to take the child from her home in the "black belt" and place her in a white woman's care, that the child was born in the Kimball house in Atlanta fourteen years ago, and that her mother, who had fled from her husband to go on the stage, had died in 1914 after giving the negress charge of the child a few weeks after birth.

But the Chicago authorities are not satisfied with this explanation. They have given the "mammy" until Saturday to answer a series of questions bearing on the child's origin, and these questions "Mammy" Jackson now declines to answer. The child has disappeared. The negress will not admit officers to her home for the purpose of searching for the girl, and it is believed Marjorie has been kidnaped and brought to Atlanta.

Local police authorities have been asked to search for the missing girl, but so far no trace of her can be found in Atlanta.

PLANS FOR NEW DEKALB COURTHOUSE APPROVED

Within a few days bids will be received for the construction of the DeKalb county courthouse, at Decatur, Ga., plans for the new courthouse to replace the one destroyed by fire some months ago having been approved by the authorities yesterday.

Walker & Chase, of Atlanta, were architects for the building. They state that the new courthouse will cost much more than the old one, which cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, and that the new one will be much more alaborate.

The advisory committee named some time ago to confer with Commissioner R. J. Freeman, approved the plans at a conference Friday morning in Decatur.

YOUNG IS BOUND OVER TO U. S. GRAND JURY

Harry Young, the fugitive in the counterfeiting investigation made by Atlanta secret service authorities, who was arrested the early part of the week in Jacksonville, was held under bond of $2,000 to the federal grand jury by Commissioner Colquitt Carter yesterday afternoon.

He is said to have promised to make a clean breast of his complicity in the counterfeit plot, and to have accused Mrs. Viola Tyler, another prisoner in the case, of having paid his fare to Jacksonville, Fla., when he made his flight last week.

His father, Dr. Harry Young, of Coweta county, has communicated with federal authorities, and says he can be relied upon to stand by his son.

NO MEETING TONIGHT OF PORTER COUNCIL

New York, February 2.—While the cotton market was much less active today and at times seemed to be recovering from yesterday's demoralization, the tone was extremely nervous and there was a big break in the late trading. After selling at 15.26 at the opening, May broke to 14.60, rallied to 15.03 and then broke to 14.05, or more than $5 per bale under last night's final figures. That delivery closed at 14.09, with the general list closing unsettled at a net loss of 75 to 106 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 15 points on March, but generally unchanged to 6 points lower. Liverpool did not fully meet yesterday's local decline and there was covering by March shorts at the start, but the market quickly weakened with active months breaking 35 to 54 points from last night's close within the first ten minutes. Inside of another ten minutes there had been a rally of 25 to 30 points on buying by houses with Liverpool connections and covering. This bulge met further liquidation of contracts carried over the break of yesterday, but the volume of business tapered off materially and the market became comparatively quiet during the middle of the day. Further foreign buying and a little buying from trade sources, accompanied by reports that spinners were calling cotton, combined with covering, sent the market up several points during the early afternoon. But a rumor to the effect that loans were being called in the south led to a renewal of more or less general liquidation. The selling was not as active as it was on the break of yesterday, but there was a good deal of excitement on the decline to 13.93 for March and 14.05 for July. This carried the market back to within 15 points of yesterday's low level on July and the new crop made new low ground for the movement with October selling at 18.75. The close was a shade up from the lowest on covering.

Cotton, spot, quiet; middling uplands, 14.30. No sales.

In New Orleans.

New Orleans, February 2.—There were extremely wide price changes in today's session of the cotton market with active months at times slightly above the level of yesterday's close and at others far below. At the lowest the weakest months showed a net decline of over 100 points. The greatest selling pressure came late in the day and was inspired chiefly by the rumor that Americans had been warned out of Germany. The tone on the close was easy and last prices were at a net loss of 85 to 105 points.

On the opening the market momentarily sold about 5 points higher than yesterday's last quotations, but immediately went lower under general selling which forced trading months to a net decline of about a quarter of a cent a pound. Following this slump the market did better on fresh buying, and toward noon, on reports that spot buyers in the interior were taking an interest in the market, the strongest months were 5 to 10 points over yesterday's final prices.

Real weakness gradually developed in the afternoon. Small mill takings for the week discouraged bullish traders and sentiment against the market grew following the rumor that an American vessel had been sunk by a German submarine. Then came the rumor about Americans being ordered from Germany, which destroyed any lingering bull support. From the highest to the lowest the fall amounted to 100 to 106 points; at the lowest levels of the day the market stood 90 to 104 points under yesterday's close.

N. Y. COTTON EXCHANGE TO REMAIN OPEN

New York, February 2.—The board of managers of the New York cotton exchange at a special meeting today decided that it was 'to the best interests of the trade" not to close the exchange because of the international situation.

The meeting was held as a consequence of the action taken yesterday by the cotton exchange in Augusta, Ga., urging that all cotton exchanges be closed.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, February 2.—(Special.)—The cotton market has been depresesd today under the uncertainties of our national policy. Liquidation has been general. The intrinsic value of cotton is ignored in this time of world-wide political disturbance.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, February 2.—(Special.)—With business in smaller volume today and less liquidation to be assorbed the local cotton market ruled comparatively quiet at a moderate decline in prices. Liverpool and domestic spinners, as was the case yesterday, again took advantage of the recession to cover hedges and this buying maintained values. Of course, the trade is nervous, pending a settlement of the latest international issue and consequently business here will be confined largely to the liquidation of old contracts.

BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New York, February 2.—(Special.)—Uncertainties, due to the grave political situation caused continued pressure in the market today. Should exports cease temporarily it will have an unfavorable effect on spot holders and this fact has caused considerable hedges in the New York market. At the present time we would not advise buying cotton, but should diplomatic relations be severed or should this country go to war a new situation will arise that can be dissected and a clearer idea arrived at. Pending development, however, the market is too dangerous, either way, to warrant any advise to our friends. Liverpool is closed tomorrow. The oil market today remained quiet, with prices only slightly changed from last night. We believe oil a purchase on reactions.

JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, February 2.—(Special.)—Further uncertainties brought further decline in cotton. Yesterday pandemonium brought heated argument and terrific losses and sharp criticism of the bears, but as a matter of truth about the only good buying yesterday was the buying of the bears to cover shorts. No one else was able to buy, or if they were able, did not see a good reason to do so in the face of the political situation. Today adds no light to the fear of a break with Germany and the only possible bullish solution of the problem politically would be for Germany to withdraw her note and abandon her program. If we insist on an observance of the previous agreement we must break with Germany and the break may mean war and the effect of the moment would be further decline. If we do not insist and mutely accept Germany's announcement the submarine will make it expensive, if not impossible to continue exporting and this would leave America and Japan to use all the cotton and since India cotton would find no European outlet it is probable that she would force Japan to absorb their cotton to the exclusion of American cotton, India cotton being so much cheaper than our own. We do not pretend to know how much cotton, spots and contracts, Germans own and hold in this country, but we presume that in event of war this cotton would immediately come on the market. We know that a very large per cent of the cotton remaining unsold in the south is held by those well able to continue holding it indefinitely if their judgment approves their so doing, but unless the fear or presence of war reduces the acreage or unless weather condition indicate a poor crop to follow we doubt if the judgment of the owners of that cotton will be to pay carrying charges on it until it comes in competition with another crop, the manufacturing of which may be restricted to only 50 or 60 per cent of the world's spindles. Until peace comes cotton will suffer from every warlike rumor. Our own hope is that this move on Germany's part is a move born of desperation and that it may hasten peace to an early conclusion. This is one of the bullish possibilities.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, February 2.—(Special.)—All the morning Liverpool was buying here and selling abroad, rapidly taking out their interest between the two markets. They have been the best buyers and their basis is the possible interruption of transportation which would make cotton higher here than there. One of the largest cotton houses was a heavy and persistent seller all the morning, supplying this demand and holding the market below last evening's close. In the afternoon further liquidation began, thought to be for the buyer of Wednesday, which proved to be more than the market could stand and it closed about a cent below last evening. Under ordinary conditions a sharp reaction would be due if nothing more, but this is not a cotton market. This is a market acting under fear of diplomatic conditions which might lead to further complications. We hape nothing will happen with Europe.

Coffee.

New York, February 2.—The market for coffee futures was much less active today with fluctuations narrow. Yesterday's liquidation appeared to have left the market in a pretty well evened-up position, and while the talk around the ring reflected continued nervousness, there seemed a very general disposition to wait for fresh developments. The market opened at a decline of 2 points, but steadied on scattered covering, with March selling up from 8.40 to 8.44 and July from 8.60 to 8.63. The close was net 1 point higher to 2 points lower. Sales, 20,750 bags.

Spot, dull: Rio 7's, 10c; Santos 4's, 10½. Cost and freight offers were reported a little easier, with Santos 4's at 10½c, London credits. The official cables showed no change in the Brazilian markets, except for a decline of 25 reis in Santos futures. Santos cleared 17,000 for New York. Brazilian port receipts, 24,000; Jundiahy, 10,000.

RAIL SHARES YIELD DURING LAST HOUR

Market, for Brief Period, Gave Promise of Retrieving Lost Ground, With Stocks Showing Comparative Strength.

New York, February 2.—For a brief period today's market gave promise of retrieving much of the ground lost in yesterday's severe and general setback, stocks displaying comparative strength toward forenoon, after an irregular opening.

Except for the first and final hours, operations were on a moderate scale, the aggregate being only a little more than half of yesterday's large turnover. The undertone of caution indicated that the uncertainties respecting relations between Washington and Berlin still remained the foremost factor.

The heaviness of the last hour was accentuated by a steady offering of high grade investment rails, which yielded with unexpected ease. St. Paul, Reading, Northern Pacific and Erie second preferred fell three points each, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific 4 and New York Central almost 6 points, with 1 to 2 points in other transportation issues of equal prominence.

United States Steel at one time was as high as 104⅛, 1⅜ points over yesterday's closing figure, but receded to 100⅛, closing at a small faction over its minimum. Other shares of the same class lost 2 to 4 points, with 2 to 7 for oils, 2 to 4 for motors and shippings, Baldwin Locomotive and People's Gas.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which developed weakness prior to the recent slump, lost 6 points, selling down to 68½, its lowest price since 1910. American tobacco featured the high-priced industrials, dropping 13 points on one sale. Total sales amounted to 1,300,000 shares.

An early rise of 8½ points in American Beet Sugar was later explained by the increased and extra dividends declared on that stock. Republic Iron's extraordinary statement for 1916 showing net profits three times in excess of the previous year, was in keeping with recent exhibits of similar industrial corporations.

Anglo-French 5's and United Kingdom 5½'s were again depressed to new low records, with heaviness in domestic issues. Total sales of bonds (par value) $4,260,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

New York, February 2.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Trade circles have been disturbed by the grave character of the new German note, and speculative markets depressed by waves of liquidatoin, shipping rates and insurance risks, sharply advanced and hesitancy in buying of bulk commodities engendered pending developments. But most of the week's business had been transacted before publication of the note and all accounts agree in chronicling remarkable activity, with wants rather than high prices propelling buying, while scarcity of goods, insufficient productive capacity, lack of labor and shortage of railway cars loom as large as ever. Distribution by retail dealers has been animated by cold weather over a wide area and in consequence reorders for winter goods expanded. Incidentally, visiting buyers throng the leading markets, thus increasing house trade in spring fabrics, while road salesmen up to the issuance of the German note had been sending in large orders. Industrial lines manifest activity, but the shortage of railway facilities, made worse by cold weather, restricts receipts as well as outbound shipments.

Bank clearings, $5,149,903,000, a loss of 4.2 per cent from last week.

Sugar.

New York, February 2.—The local market for raw sugar was easier and prices were 1-16c lower. Continued favorable weather in Cuba and the increased grinding led to more liberal offerings with sales for the day of 60,000 bags of Cubas for February and March shipment at 3 13-16c, cost and freight, equal to 4.83 for centrifugal. Closing prices were 3 13-16c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 4.83 for centrifugal and 3.96 for molasses.

No improvement was noted in the market for refined sugar with sentiment still unsettled by the labor difficulties. Prices, however, remained unchanged, although trading was light, with buyers buying only in a hand-to-mouth fashion. Fine granulated, 6.75.

There was a contiuation of yesterday's selling movement in the market for sugar futures, aided by the lower ruling of the spot market and the bearish crop advices with closing prices 5 to 6 points lower, except December, which was 3 points higher. Private advices from Cuba said that the weather was favorable and that there are now 173 centrals grinding which compares with 167 in operation earlier in the week. Sales for the day were 9,600 tons. March sold from 3.88 to 3.82, closing 3.84;; May, 3.90 to 3.85, closing 3.85; July, 3.93 to 3.90, closing 3.90; September, 3.98, closing 3.98.

UNSETTLED CLOSE IN WHEAT MARKET

Finish Ranged From 2 1-2 Cents Decline to 2 1-8 Cents Advance—Corn and Oats Unchanged—Provisions Higher.

Chicago, February 2.—Rumors that an American ship had been sunk and that loss of life had resulted brought about much selling in the wheat market today, and caused an unsettled close. The finish ranged from 2½c decline to 2⅛c advance, as compared with yesterday's latest figures. Corn and oats wound up virtually unchanged and provisions 10c to 32c higher.

Flurried trading in wheat did not develop until the last hour of the session, and was confined chiefly to the May option. The fact that the sellers were led by a house which had successfully anticipated yesterday's big break in prices did a good deal to emphasize the weakness accompanying the rumors of a naval mishap. On the other hand, lack of confirmation of any attack on an American craft served to check a general fall in prices. It was not until after the day's business was at an end that the probable basis for the rumors was found in dispatches referring to the destruction of a Belgian relief ship which may possibly have had Americans on board.

Extreme cold endangering the winter crop, especially in Illinois and Missouri, gave a moderate lift to wheat prices during the early part of the day. Venturesome buyers were disposed also to take ground that the absence as yet of any rupture between the United States and Germany afforded hope that a break in diplomatic relations might still be averted. A majority of dealers, however, seemed inclined to preserve a cautions attitude pending definite developments, and there was not much volume to business prior to the commotion due to disturbing rumors after midday.

Indications of a revival of seaboard demand for corn strengthened that cereal temporarily, but profit-taking on the part of buyers resulted afterward in a reaction. Springfield, Illinois, sold 200,000 bushels to go to the seaboard at the highest premium on the crop.

Oats merely kept pace with corn. Trade was light.

Provisions bulged on account of buying that was credited to packers and to eastern houses. The best demand was for lard.

SETTLE QUINTET TITLE

A. A. C. FIVE PLAYS GEORGIA QUINTET

Game at Athens Saturday Night Will Determine the Championship of the South This Season.

By Dick Jemison.

The most important basketball game of the entire southern season and on which the championship of the south hinges will be played in Athens Saturday night when the University of Georgia and the Atlanta Athletic club fives lock horns.

The winner of this game will have the clearest cut claim to the championship of the south and only the outcome of the return meeting between the two teams in Atlanta can possibly upset the eventual awarding of the championship.

Saturday's game is the "croocil" one of the year. Both teams are primed for the best battle of their young lives and both enter the arena in fear and trembling of the prowess of the other.

To dope the possible winner in advance is beyond any dopester. The dope is all jumbled up, though on paper, with comparative scores as the means of arriving at some decision, the Red and Black look the stronger.

On the other hand, the A. A. C. five has in all games this season been extremely confident of its ability to win the verdict and has played at only the speed the opposition made it show. It has never traveled at its fastest clip at any stage, loafing in most of the contests, speeding up only enough to take the lead and then hold it.

The Georgians are confident of their ability to get off in the lead, but they are not so confident of holding it. The Red and Black got away in the lead last year, only to be overhauled and passed by the superior team play, experience and weight of the A. A. C. quintet.

The local five will have the edge on the Georgians in experience and weight. In speed and goal shooting the Red and Black does not suffer by comparison, but the question to decide is will the A. A. C. five follow the fast pace the Georgians set at the start and then by their superior ruggedness and experience wear them down at the finish.

It's a pretty situation that faces both teams and basketball fans of the south are all keyed up in anticipation of the possible outcome. The crowd that will pack Alumni hall at Athens is certain to be a record one.

Both teams are in splendid shape for the contest and will start their regular line-ups. The locals will take twelve men to Athens with them. Here is the probable line-up of the two fives:

GEORGIA.	Position.	ATLANTA.
Scott	L. F.	Westmoreland
Cox	R. F.	Lester
Morrison (Capt.)	C.	Dubard
Rawson	L. G.	Graves (Capt.)
McCall	R. G.	Carter

BASEBALL ON THE INSIDE WITH BILLY EVANS

Being a Discussion of Plays and Players, Rules and Rulings From Serious and Humorous Angles

Perhaps as long as baseball is played the question of getting the opposition's signs will be a subject for dispute. Is there any merit in knowing what the pitcher on the other team is going to deliver? It would seem such knowledge would be considerable of an advantage. Connie Mack, of the Athletics, is one leader who believes a player ought to be able to hit better if wise to what the pitcher intends to throw. Frank Chance always put a ban on any attempt to get the battery signals of the opposing team.

It has been my belief that, knowing what is to be pitched, the batter ought to ge better able to hit than if groping in the dark. In this connection I always recall the work of an American league club. The batter in question was notoriously weak on a curve ball. His batting position was of such a style that he was made to order for a pitcher with a good curve ball. If a batter has a weakness it soon becomes common property in baseball. Naturally, said outfielder was always served a great variety of curves when he stepped to the plate.

As a member of the Athletics the player in a measure greatly overcame this fault. Tipped off by the coacher when a curve was about to be thrown, he would shift his position to do some execution. It wasn't long before the belief that the batter was weak on curves began to be a much doubted theory. As a matter of fact, the ability to better hit curve ball pitching was made possible through the knowledge imparted by the coachers. The player was always a bear hitting a fast one, so that when the pitchers started to mix them up he began to fatten his average all the more.

Time brings many changes in baseball so that in the course of a few years the player went to another American league club. As a member of his new club the old weakness on curve ball pitching soon cropped out. His batting average dropped 30 or 40 points. The player was a disappointment to the manager of the new club. Injuries to several outfielders made it necessary for Manager Mack to pick up a veteran at once. He closed a deal for his former player. Once back with the Athletics, he again began to hit curves to all parts of the field. It always struck me the record of this player was proof that having a knowledge of what was being pitched, one was in a better position to hit it.

Frank Chance's greatest objection to signal tipping was that the coacher didn't always call the turn correctly. When such a thing happens, the batter is in danger of being seriously injured. It can be seen what could happen if he stepped into the ball, believing it to be a curve, and it turned out to be a fast one with a lot of stuff on it. Chance figured that the advantage gained was not great enough for the risk demanded.

On this point, Mack's coachers are always careful. Unless positive of the delivery, they always refrain from tipping off the batsman. Harry Davis is a past master at the art. Several years ago the Athletics were playing a close rival. This rival decided it would be wise to cross the Mackmen by having the pitcher give the signals. It worked fine for two innings, then Davis, who was coaching at first, remarked: "Guess we will have to pay attention to the pitcher, that catcher has given the same sign for the last six balls pitched." The next inning Davis had deciphered the pitcher's code and in the following inning the Athletics made six runs.

REFEREE FORFEITS GAME TO TECH HIGH

How They Stand.

TEAMS—	Won	Lost	Pct.
T. H. S.	6	0	1.000
Marist	5	1	.830
B. H. S.	4	2	.666
C. H. S.	3	3	.500
Peacock	2	3	.400
F. H. S.	0	6	.000

Friday's game between Tech High and Boys' High, slated to have been played on the Wesley Memorial court, was declared forfeited to Tech High by Referee Villard, after but two minutes of play.

In a scuffle after the ball, Centers Doyal and Staton fell to the floor, the former on top. Staton, claiming that he thought that Doyal, who had his knee in his (Staton's) mid section, meant bodily injury, delivered a right swing to the jaw.

Referee Villard called time and counted Staton out, insofar as further participation in the game was concerned. To this Coaches Moore and Fancher, of Boys' High, demurred and argued the case with the judge of play.

Boys' High contended that Doyal ought also to be removed and refused to play unless he was. Tech High refused to play unless Staton was removed. There the matter stood after a half an hour of arguing, and Referee Villard declared the game forfeited to Tech High, 1 to 0.

No score had been made at the time of the squabble, but Boys' High had steadily kept the ball in play in Tech High's territory. A big crowd was in attendance.

The game will probably be referred to the directors of the league for final decision, but until acted upon, will stand in the win column of Tech High.

Commercial High Wins.

In the other game of the day in the prep league, Commercial High defeated Fulton High by the score of 13 to 12. The game was close and hard fought, the result being uncertain till the end. Womac, Barkin and Cody starred for Commercial High, and Stevenson and Goldsmith excelled for the county boys.

The line up:

Fulton High.	Pos.	Com. High.
Stevenson	F.	Womac
Hopkins	F.	Manos
Goldsmith	C.	Boyd
Shell	G.	Barkin
Sparts	G.	Smith, Cody

WHIFFS

Fears Outcome.

COACH BEAN, of the A. A. C. quintet, fears the game with the University of Georgia at Athens Saturday night, as evidenced by the fact that he announces that he will take twelve men on the trip. The superior weight and experience of the local five is believed to be their chief assets for a possible victory. The outcome is one of considerable doubt, even admitting their superiority in these two essentials to successful basketball play.

Sid Smith Here.

CHUBBY Sidney Smith, former Crack backstop, is again a visitor to Atlanta. He returned here from a visit to his home in Camden, S. C., and will shortly drive in his big Buick back to Shreveport, where he will manage the team of that city in the Texas league the coming season. In the interim between now and the opening of the baseball season, Sid will sell automobiles in the Shreveport territory.

Realms of Sport.

"IT ALL COMES under the head of sports," is a phrase used by a certain cartoonist in portraying some of the humor of the day. He must have had in mind Atlanta automobile dealers when the mercury went tumbling down close to the zero mark yesterday morning. Many owners were unprepared for such a sudden change, failed to drain the water from their tanks, or pour in the anti-freeze solutions. Result, numerous telephones calls to local dealers, "Come and get my car, it's frozen stiff." There was a steady stream of frozen cars to be thawed out all during the day Friday. Every one picked on the poor dealer Friday.

The Biggest Need.

WHATEVER other announcement he makes when he returns to Atlanta, we hope that Mogul Frank will enlighten us on the battery problem, especially behind the wood. A great catching staff can make a mediocre twirling corps look like world beaters. That's the Cracker's biggest want and we hope the Dutchman fills it.

Regrettable Incident.

THE SUDDEN termination of what gave evidence of being a splendid game between Tech High and Boys' High Friday afternoon is to be regretted. Such incidents mar an otherwise clean and splendid sport. Referee Villard was absolutely in his rights in the premises. If he did not see Doyal strike Staton and did see the latter strike Doyal, then he had no other recourse. He could not render a decision on hearsay. From other sources we learn that both teams were anxious to resume play and Doyal and Staton had patched up a truce, and the rival coaches are deserving of criticism for holding on to their contentions if such was the case. The game will probably be thrown out and ordered played over again, which is the only just decision the league directors could possibly make. Until they rule on it, however, it stands as a victory for Tech High.

FULTON HIGH GIRLS DEFEAT MARIETTA

By Clark Foreman.

The Fulton High girls' basketball team beat the Marietta High school quintet by the count of 10 to 4 on the latter's court.

Miss Jackson and Miss Graves excelled for Fulton High and Miss Williams and Miss Kemp featured for Marietta High.

ATHENS BOYS WIN, AND SO DO GIRLS

Athens, Ga., Fsbruary 2.—(Special.)—Athens High school boys defeated the Gainesville High boys in a good basketball game here tonight, 30 to 26, on the Young Woman's Christian association gym floor. The game between Lucy Cobb institute girls' five and the Gainesville High girls' team resulted in a victory for the "Lucies," the score being 21 to 1. This was also a one-sided game.

Decatur High Wins.

The fast Decatur High school girls' basketball team defeated the team of Washington seminary Friday at the Crystal Palace, Tech, by the score of 14-0. Last season the two teams played a tie game and the playing this year was even harder in the attempt to swamp the opponent.

Fuller Captains Florida.

Gainesville, Fla., February 2.—A. H. Fuller, of Nichols, Fla., who entered Florida from Porter Military academy, of Charleston, was elected captain of the University of Florida football team for 1917, here today.

Robert Edeson.

(At the Atlanta.)

For the engagement of Robert Edeson Monday and Tuesday at the Atlanta seats are now on sale. Mr. Edeson is bringing his new play to Atlanta. It is "His Brother's Keeper," and has been received with the utmost enthusiasm where it has been played. It is a play of strength and is a dramatic treat which will long live in the minds of those who witness it. Mr. Edeson is surrounded by a wonderfully capable company of players who have long ago earned their spurs and performances of race character are given. The Atlanta engagement includes a matinee Tuesday afternoon.

"Maggie Taylor—Waitress."

(At the Forsyth Next Week.)

"Maggie Taylor—Waitress," new and whimsical little comedy starring the gifted Jean Adair, will occupy headline position on next week's Keith vaudeville program at the Forsyth, along with Frederick V. Bowers' new and brilliantly-staged "Scenic Song Review." Managare Hickman has booked six other acts, particulars of which will be announced Sunday. This week's features include George Damerel, assisted by Edward Hume and Myrtle Vail in the musical comedy fantasy, "Temptation;" Oscar Lorraine, violin-nuttist; Herr Jansen and his immense magic act; Fanny and Kitty Watson, girls of stunning gowns, and new songs; the Four Wire Kings, in a daring novelty, and two other splendid acts.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

The most elaborate vaudeville bill in many months is at the Grand theater this week in the current Marcus Loew bill. It is headlined by the inimitable Owen McGiveney in "Moments With Dickens," a spectacular dramatic offering combining Dickens' characterizations with Dickens' dramatic episodes, in which McGiveney plays the entire act unassisted. Sallie Fields, the sensational cabaret luminary, offers the season's most topical songs; Jerome and Carson, in a series of songs, dance and equilibristic oddities; Martin and Mack, in nut stuff, and Ed and Minnie Foster, in their own version of "Squirrel Food," comprise the remainder of the bill.

Family Vaudeville.

(At the Rialto.)

The Joy Riders at the Rialto theater the last half of the week are cutting a happy swath through the good graces of the large audiences who have seen them afternoon and night during their stay. They close their performance here with four performances today, two in the afternoon and two at night. Their little company is composed of four mighty pretty girls and three funny fellows. There are four other acts on the bill, including Miller and Rainey in songs; Helen Jackley, in sensational high dives; Virginia Dale, the pianologist, and Togan and Geneva, wizards of the wire.

"The Common Law."

(At the Criterion.)

"The Common Law," the picturization of that popular and absorbing novel by Robert W. Chambers, is offered at the Criterion today, starring Clara Kimball Young, in what has been pronounced her greatest picture. It is a Selznick production that ranks with the most lavishly-staged ever turned out by this company. The story dealing as it does with the interesting and unconventional life of the artists' colony in New York, forms one of the most charming love tales ever written. It presents a unique problem that is solved in a unique way.

Today at the Movies.

SAVOY—Vivian Martin in "The Wax Model."

STRAND—Anita Stewart in "The Glory of Yolando."

CRITERION—Clara Kimball Young in "The Common Law."

VICTORIA—Charlie Chaplin, in "A Burlesque on Carmen."

"The Crisis" Called Picture of the Hour By Great Producer

There has been no lack of interest in the coming engagement of "The Crisis," at the Lyric all of next week, daily matinee and night. The fact that the theater is going to be opened with a new policy and that "The Picture of the Hour," Winston Churchill's great American story of America, "The Crisis," would be the attraction, has excited an unusual interest, and a splendid advance sale has been registered, including parties of most representative citizens who have read the book and who are not going to overlook the fine opportunity to see the picture play.

There is no question about the value of the superfeature. It is conceded to be one of the most wonderful pictures ever made, and William N. Selig, a dean in the industry now fifth in importance in the world, does not hesitate in declaring "The Crisis" to be the greatest feature he has ever made, and this is remarkable in that the producer has no financial interest in the picture.

The Big Feature Rights corporation, a combination of Louisville business men, are the owners of "The Crisis" in this territory and a great deal of attention has been given to the detail of presentation here and in other southern cities, before the offering takes the road to play the first class theaters.

Prof. Natiello, the famous bandmaster and orchestra conductor, will direct the selected orchestra here, and every detail of "The Crisis" will be in keeping with the magnificent music.

The story is a beautiful romance of the north and south and an all-star cast, headed by George W. Fawcett, Sam D. Drane, Matt B. Snyder, Bessie Eyton, Engenie Besserer and Frank Weed, will be seen in the roles and all of the national guard of Mississippi will appear in the famous reproduction of the battle of Vicksburg.

Atlantans Subscribe $51.50 for the Aid Of Belgian Children

In response to the appeal made by the women of Atlanta through The Constitution in Tuesday's issue $51.50 has been subscribed for the relief of Belgian children. The money will be sent to the Literary Digest, which is raising a fund for this cause. According to this week's Digest, the fund which was started only two weeks ago, is already in excess of $75,000. The donors who have sent their subscriptions through The Constitution are:

Colonel Blair D. Taylor, U. S. A., retired, and family	$27.00
Russell E. Richards	5.00
J. H. H.	12.00
Oscar C. Bean, Blue Ridge	1.00
Miss Eva Clarke, Marietta	5.00
Mrs. O. T. Mountfort, Butler, Ga.	1.50

Notwithstanding all the distress that the Belgians have suffered during the war and the generous response of the American people to their needs, there is no doubt that the demand for help now being made is more urgent than ever before. It is authoritatively stated that the very existence of the growing generation of the whole Belgian people hinges on the response made by Americans to this call.

FIGHTING LESSENS ON BATTLE FRONTS

Inactivity of Last Few Days Continues—Only Artillery Bombardments and Raiding Expeditions Reported.

New York, February 2.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—On the battle fronts of Europe the inactivity of the past few days continues. The greatest activity seemingly has taken place on the western front. There, however, only patrol engagements and reconnoitering expeditions have occupied the troops in addition to the regular artillery bombardments. Near Gueudecourt, in the Somme region, British troops took 60 prisoners in a raid. Berlin also reports several successful raids in this area.

Bad weather hampers large scale operations of the eastern and Macedonian fronts. Near Solotvina, southwest of Brzezany, in Galicia, German troops, Petrograd says, entered a Russian trench, but were later driven back to their own line. Petrograd reports scouting and infantry fighting in Rumania.

The French government has decided to mobilize the entire civilian population of France between the ages of 16 and 60 for national defense. Both sexes will be included in the mobilization.

GERMANS ATTACK FRENCH TRENCHES, BUT ARE REPULSED

Paris, February 2.—French trenches south of Leintrey, in Lorraine, were attacked last evening by the Germans. The attacks failed, the war office announced today.

There were artillery actions last night at Louvemont, north of Verdun, and at Metzeral in the Vosges.

A German aviator dropped five bombs yesterday on Dunkirk. The war office statement reports the damage small and there were no victims.

ARTILLERY BUSY, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, February 2.—(Via Sayville.) Artillery and reconnoitering activity of a lively nature is reported in today's army headquarters statement in many sectors of the Franco-Belgian front.

The artillery duel was particularly sharp between the Ancre and the Somme, while in the Gueudecourt sector on the Somme front an operation by a British force resulted in the German lines being entered on a small front, the Germans afterward clearing the position by a counter attack.

IN WHITE OVERALLS GERMANS PIERCE RUSSIAN FIRST LINE

Petrograd, February 2.—(Via London. British Admiralty Per Wireless Press.)—German troops dressed in white overalls yesterday broke through the Russian first line trench positions at Solotvina southwest of Brzezany, says the official statement issued today by the Russian war department. The Russians, however, launched a counter attack and drove the Teutons back into their own entrenchments.

LITTLE DOING, GERMANS CLAIM.

Berlin, February 2.—(Via Sayville.) Owing to the severe cold and heavy snow-fall there were no important events, says today's official report regarding the Russo-Galician front.

No changes on the Rumanian or Macedonian fronts are recorded.

BIRTH CONTROL WOMEN ARE DECLARED GUILTY

New York, February 2.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, birth control advocate, and her assistant, Miss Fania Mondell, were found guilty today of disseminating information forbidden by law. They will be sentenced February 8. Mrs. Sanger is a sister of Mrs. Ethel Byrne, who went on a hunger strike when sent to the workhouse for thirty days after her conviction on a similar charge.

Mrs. Ethel Byrne is in a hospital recovering from the effects of the hunger strike. Mrs. Byrne was released from Blackwell's Island last night by order of Governor Whitman.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET IN AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., February 2.—(Special.) Over two hundred delegates are in Americus to attend the sixth annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary societies of the South Georgia Methodists' conference, which convened tonight.

The body opened with Rev. Paul Ellis, pastor of the First Methodist church, Americus, in charge of the services, which included an address on "Christian Stewardship," by Dr. Harvey Reeves Calkins, stewardship secretary of the church. The meeting will last four days.

CONFERENCE GRANTED MUTINOUS CONVICTS

Convicts Rebelled Against the Warden and Held White Men as Hostages.

Banner, Ala., February 2.—After remaining in the Banner mines here for twenty-four hours, holding four white men prisoners, 221 negro convicts, shortly after noon today, marched out, following an agreement with the state convict board that a conference be held to hear complaints against Warden Hall, that he had been "inconsiderate" in his treatment of them.

The negroes held the white men prisoners in the Banner coal mine near here with the declared purpose of keeping them prisoners until the board agrees to oust Warden J. D. Hall.

Chairman Rogers in a formal statement to newspaper men today said:

"The difficulty is not really as serious as it appears on the surface. Little complaints like these against the state wardens are constantly being made by the men."

The four white men held were Fire Bosses W. P. Barron, L. C. Brown, James Ford and Robert Russell.

Birmingham, Ala., February 2.—A complete investigation into the conditions existing at Banner mines and the causes which resulted in the rebellion of more than two hundred convict miners there yesterday, was well under way tonight. P. J. Rogers, president of the state convict board, and Inspectors Kyser and Smith were holding the investigation. It was announced by Inspector Kyser late tonight that the hearing would probably be concluded tomorrow.

In addition to the convicts, officials and attaches of the Banner camp are being examined. Inspector Kyser stated that everything was quiet and that there would be no further trouble. He declined to make any surmise as to what action the board would take after the investigation.

BIG FLOCKS OF ROBINS RETURN TO THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—Thomasville seems suddenly to have become the center for large flocks of robins which arrived yesterday without any warning. For several years past it has been remarked that these birds had deserted this section of the country entirely and the coming now in such numbers is a surprise. Does it means that the winter has much cold weather in store yet and that the robins are coming south to avoid it, or is it that the winter is about over, and they are on their way south, is a question that is puzzling many.

Help Is Requested, By Salvation Army For Needy Family

With Father Sick and Mother Unable to Work, Because She Has to Take Care of Five Girls, Aid Is Badly Needed.

Well-clad and well-fed Atlanta, sitting around its firesides or keeping in close touch with convenient radiators, may shiver and shake, but could it individually or collectively witness some of the scenes of absolute misery, cold and want that are existing in Atlanta during the present bitter cold it would better appreciate its present comfortable surroundings.

The following story comes from Miss Rheba Crawford, daughter of the brigadier of the Salvation Army, and though the organization has done what it can, the case is one which should receive the attention of the people:

Father Is Ill.

In a dark alley back of a mill district of Atlanta, where small houses are grouped, there lives—or rather exists—a family of seven.

The father, formerly an active and prosperous carpenter, is confined to his bed, following a fall from a ladder two months before Christmas. At first it was thought that he would fully recover his injuries and he recovered to the extent that about Christmas time, after nearly a month in bed, he again went to work. About four weeks ago he was again forced to take to his bed and there he has been ever since.

The mother, who married when she was 14 years of age, has five children, all girls, to look after. Therefore, she has not the chance to work and make a little money in order that ends might be made to meet.

"Friday we went again to the house," declared Miss Crawford. "The conditions are pitiable beyond description. I don't hesitate to say that it is the worst case I have ever seen. We have sent out some fuel and food, but it can't last very long. The family is in desperate need and if some good people of Atlanta would help them it would mean more than one can realize.

"The children, all little girls, are poorly clad. Two who attend school have hardly sufficient clothes to cover them. The other three are too small, and remain at home.

"The family is destitute; the father is helpless; the mother has not time for anything except attention to the children. They need food and fuel and clothes and they need it all bady."

Will Send Money.

Miss Crawford, because it is against the rules of the organization, would not tell the name and address of the family, but stated that if anyone would call her she would see that the family received what donations might be offered.

Aside from such cases as the above, and there were several not so destitute, the Salvation Army sent out a number of orders for coal and groceries.

"Conditions are so bad," declared Miss Crawford, "that persons have come to our home here (her residence) asking aid. This has never been the case before. The severe weather conditions have brought on unthinkable suffering and the people need help."

RAILROADS WILL WORK TO SOLVE CAR SHORTAGE

New York, February 2.—Appointment of a commission of five with plenary powers to co-operate with the interstate commerce commission in the administration of a new set of car service rules adopted with a view to solving the car shortage problem, was decided upon by the American Railway association at a meeting here today. The new set of service rules, it was said, will be submitted at once to the railroads throughout the country for approval.

The commission to be appointed will deal with all car service problems until May 1. The new rules provide, among other things, for the forwarding to destination of foreign cars under load and the prompt handling of empty foreign cars, within certain provisions said to be calculated to relieve the present situation.

The new rules, which become effective February 21, are based upon per diem rules, also effective on that date. In a circular letter to the railroads, the association asks that the committee of five be given power to make such necessary modifications in the rules as may be required to prevent undue hardship.

POPULATION OF 10,000 IS GIVEN THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—A census of Thomasville recently completed by parties coming here for the purpose of getting up a city directory, show that the present population is over 10,000. By the census of 1910 Thomasville only had a population of 6,727 and the growth of the town since then is marked. With the various suburban districts built up just outside of the city limits, taken in, the population would show a much larger increase.

SEVENTH DATE IS SET FOR BOOZE CASE TRIAL

Macon, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—The famous Coffee county liquor case, involving the rights of the United States government to confiscate liquor valued at $39,000, has again been assigned for trial, this being the seventh time the case has been set down, only to be continued for one reason or another. The case will be heard the first thing after the opening of the Savannah term of the United States district court on February 13.

H. MURPHY IS INJURED BY FALL WHILE HUNTING

Waycross, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—While out dove hunting today, H. Murphy, pioneer citizen of Waycross, who is in his eighty-second year, was badly injured when he fell and struck a snag in a field. His cheek was gashed and an artery in his forehead severed by his fall. Medical attention was given him as soon as possible, but not before much blood was lost. Tonight he was reported as resting easy.

SOUTH'S WAR MAIL MEN TO RECEIVE $196,000

Washington, February 2.—A bill appropriating $196,000 for mail carried in the southern states during the civil war, previously passed by the house, was passed tonight by the senate. The money goes to mail contractors, mostly confederate veterans, or their heirs. The 800 claims have been pending for more than a half century.

Grayson Strongly Opposed.

Washington, February 2.—An effort to confirm President Wilson's nomination of Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his naval aide, to be a rear admiral, was blocked in the senate tonight by Senators Lodge and Weeks. The two Massachusetts senators and others who oppose confirmation indicated they would attempt to prolong debate on the subject indefinitely if the democrats continued to press for a vote.

FILMS CAUSE DISCORD IN COP'S FAMILY LIFE

Macon, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—Judge Mathews, in superior court today, decided that Police Sergeant W. S. Stripling should pay his wife $25 a month temporary alimony. The hearing, which lasted more than a day, developed some sensational testimony. Stripling charging that his wife threatened to shoot him because he would not go to the picture shows and made his life unbearable through the use of abusive language. Notice of an appeal has been given. Stripling was willing to give his wife $15 a month, claiming that amount had been agreed on. The case got into court when the civil service commission ordered Stripling to pay $25 toward his wife's support and he refused to do so. When the commission suspended him he secured an injunction from Judge Mathews. A suit for divorce is now pending.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME OF P. D. WILLINGHAM

Macon, Ga., February 2.—(Special.)—The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Willingham, 545 College street, was badly damaged by fire tonight, which burned the roof off and forced the family out into the coldest night of the winter.

FRANCE WILL MOBILIZE ALL CIVIL POPULATION

Paris, February 2.—The government has decided to mobilize for purposes contributing to the national defense, the entire civilian population of France of both sexes, between the ages of 16 and 60. This plan is now under study by the various ministries concerned.

DIGGING IN THE RUINS FOR BODIES OF VICTIMS

Seven Known Dead as Result of Chicago Explosion—27 Are Missing.

Chicago, February 2.—More than a hundred men worked tonight over the smouldering, ice-covered ruins of a tenement wrecked by an explosion early this morning. The tenement, located in the heart of the West Side Ghetto district, contained sleeping men, women and children, variously estimated at between eighty and ninety.

Of the number tossed in all directions and buried beneath the debris, these results had been established tonight:

Known dead, 7; injured, 21; missing, 27; rescued (uninjured), 22.

Twenty-four hours more at least, according to Fire Marshal O'Connor, would be necessary to clear away the mass of debris and ice in order fully to determine whether there are others in the ruins. Late today firemen heard moaning under portions of the ruins and five persons were taken from the spot. It is believed there are about twelve others buried in the runs.

The intense cold—10 below zero—retarded the firemen and the streams turned on the burning tenement turned to ice about as soon as the water fell.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by leaking gas. Long after the three-story brick building had fallen a pillar of fire stood up from the ruins, indicating a flow of gas, and it was not until hours after that this could be stopped.

Most of those rescued soon after the explosion sustained frozen hands or feet, as all were in scant attire.

Some Forty, or More, Coats Tuned to the Weather

Fortunately, they were timed to arrive just as the mercury began to tumble.

Had the manufacturers anticipated freezing weather in the South when the price was named for these Overcoats we doubt if this announcement would have appeared this morning.

However, the coats are here, about 47 of them—bought at a price which makes possible this timely reminder.

Only two or three of a pattern, remember, for it was a pick-up---a clearance of all the maker had on the floor---therefore, a variety of designs and colors.

Green and brown mixtures, heather mixtures, grey mixtures, plain blues and greys.

Diagonal effects. Novelty fabrics. Colorings conservative or ultra, as you like.

The models are single and double breast; some formed to fit the lines of the body; others made on straight lines with ample fullness, and quite a few are belted at the back in a very modish manner.
